Argentina Cuts Trade With U.S., Nazis Get More

Imports Overbalanced Purchases From Argentine, Finance Minister Says; Britain, Germany to Be Favored In Future Agreements, Belief.

(By Associated Press)

BUENOS AIRES—Argentina ordered a sharp reduction in purchases from the United States today, and the implication was felt that Germany and Great Britain would get more of the business.

The announcement in morning newspapers by Pedro Groppo, minister of finance, appeared to have developed between the two richest American nations an open breach over trade—the base upon which United States Secretary of State Hull built the American good neighbor policy.

Groppo declared that United States imports must be reduced to "the level of three or four years ago" because the imports far overbalance United States purchases of Argentine goods.

The minister indicated Argentina could not accept a most-favored nation treaty offered by the United States but wanted a bi-lateral agreement to strike a trade balance—a treaty similar to that which Argentina already has with a number of European countries.

A reduction of imports to previous levels would mean a cut of 40 per cent from 1938 figures or about $31,000,000.

Reduction 'Necessity.'

Groppo's announcement was published as a half-page advertisement in morning newspapers. It insisted that the reduction—to be effected by withholding import permits—was not discrimination on behalf of European countries but a necessity.

Britain, biggest investor in Argentina and her best customer, has been pressing Argentina to accept more British goods to maintain debt interest payments.

Germany, dynamic third customer-seller, has been offering to take vast quantities of wheat and beef in barter for German-manufactured products.

Many United States importers here, with the announcement of definite plans by the government, despaired of maintaining their position on the Argentine market in the face of rapidly increasing German business and Britain's long-established supremacy.

Import Increase Shown.

The Groppo announcement said United States imports increased over the past few years from 16.5 per cent of the total of Argentine purchases abroad to 20.3 per cent in 1938.

The unfavorable balance of payments, including service of debts to the United States, was put at $63,750,000.

In 1938, Groppo, said, the United States sold $76,750,000 in goods to Argentina and bought $29,000,000 worth. The ministry said it had been necessary to export Argentine gold to make up the deficit.

URGED TO QUIT

Mrs. Wilson Wanted President to Resign, She Writes.

Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson, widow of the war-time president, writes today in the Feb. 18 issue of the Saturday Evening Post that after President Wilson had suffered a paralytic stroke in October, 1919, she suggested that he resign his high office in favor of Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall.

Her suggestion, Mrs. Wilson adds, was overruled by Dr. Francis X. Dercum, Philadelphia nerve specialists, to whom she voiced it. The incident was brought about when Dr. Dercum urged Mrs. Wilson to save the stricken president as much disturbance on current problems as possible.

The doctor held, however, that the president's resignation "would have a bad effect on the country, and a serious effect on our patient."

BONES OF YOUTH

Skeleton Found Near Athens Identified By Physician.

ATHENS, O.—(NS)—The skeleton of a man who hanged himself and which was found yesterday in Lodi township, was identified today as that of Alexander Whittaker, jr., 26, who escaped last June from the Athens State hospital.

Dr. C. H. Creed, hospital superintendent, said the identification has been accepted by the youth's father, Alexander Whittaker, sr., of Woodsfield.

GETS NEW JOB

Perrott, Former Highway Engineer Named to Tax Job.

Ralph O. Perrott, Bucyrus, who was state highway department engineer under I. R. Ault, when the latter was division engineer at Ashland, has been named to a new state post, the Associated Press reported in a Columbus dispatch today.

Perrott has been named Columbus district manager of the sales and use tax division, with a salary of $3,400 a year.

BRITISH DECIDE ON RECOGNITION

Cabinet Agrees on Principle to Recognize Franco's Rule in War-Torn Spain.

(By United Press)

LONDON—The British cabinet decided today to recognize the Spanish Nationalist government in principle, according to informed political quarters.

Actual granting of recognition, however, will be delayed pending further consultations with France.

Lord Halifax, foreign secretary, submitted to the cabinet a report balancing arguments for and against recognition. The report was reported to have concluded that it would be advisable to recognize Generalissimo Francisco Franco without unnecessary delay.

Government quarters interpreted the French cabinet's action yesterday as amounting to agreement in principle to recognize the Nationalists and therefore the two nations are now expected to consult regarding the time and manner of recognition.

The possible delay in according recognition also was attributed to a desire to have public opinion coalesce favorably, not only in Britain and France but in the United States, as the British fear there would be unfavorable reaction to hasty withdrawal of recognition from the Republicans.

Speaking in the house of commons Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain said that Fuehrer Adolf Hitler informed him at Munich he was ready to withdraw German troops from Spain whenever other countries are willing to do the same.

Regarding recognition of Gen. Francisco Franco, Nationalist leader, Chamberlain said that "as the matter of recognizing Gen. Franco still is under consideration," he was unable to make any statement.

BENEFACTOR OF CONVICTS DIES

Clevelander Helped Scores to Get Jobs After Releases.

CLEVELAND—(NS)—The man who helped scores of ex-convicts to get back into the routine of living by getting them jobs, Sam S. Williams, 85, president of the Sam S. Williams Voucher Law and Order League, was dead today.

Applying the Golden Rule, Williams secured jobs for men who were released from prison, vouching for them himself. Few—probably none—of them ever let him down.

He died yesterday in St. Luke's hospital after a short illness. Services will be conducted tonight.

3 PLANS FOR SEWER SURVEY UP TO COUNCIL

Members Meet Monday, Study Methods of Conducting Comprehensive Check.

BASIS FOR BOND REQUEST

Issue to Finance Revamping of System Expected to Be Voted on in Primary.

City council will meet as a committee of the whole Monday night on the call of Mayor Claude M. Hunter to study three possible means of conducting a comprehensive survey of the city's sanitary sewer system which will serve as the basis for a bond request expected to be submitted to the voters at the August primaries. The bonds would finance the rehabilitation of the system.

The mayor called the committee session following a meeting last night with Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist and members of council's sewer and finance committees who discussed the survey plans for three hours without coming to any definite conclusion as to how it should be done.

Confer With Waring.

The session was the outgrowth of an earlier meeting of city officials in Columbus with Fred H. Waring, chief engineer for the state department of health and a ruling made by City Solicitor Marion D. Ward that $7,930, the balance in a PWA sewage disposal fund, was available for the survey.

The three plans for conducting the survey which will be discussed Monday by council are:

1. The hiring of a consulting engineering firm to make the city-wide survey on a contract basis.

2. Engage a consulting engineer who would supervise and be responsible for the survey to be made by a special staff of engineers employed by the city, or

3. Have the city's engineering department, augmented by additional engineers do the job, part of the preliminary work which already has been completed.

Report Up To State.

Officials at the meeting last night agreed that whichever course was decided upon that it would have to be conducted by competent engineers whose final report would be approved by the state department of health.

Hunter announced last week that he would seek the approval of a bond issue of from $50,000 to $100,000 to revamp the entire sanitary sewer system, the condition of which he described as "deplorable."

He called for immediate action in getting the survey started in order to permit filing the bond request with the board of elections before the 60-day deadline set by law.

Opposition was voiced last night

MARKING TIME

Roosevelt Won't Name Court Justice Till After Trip.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Belief that President Roosevelt would delay appointment of a new supreme court judge until after his Caribbean cruise was expressed today by senators who said they had inquired at the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt will leave tomorrow night to rest and to review fleet maneuvers. He will be gone about two weeks.

Western Senators were pushing their campaign to have a man from their region appointed to replace Justice Louis D. Brandeis, who retired Monday after serving 23 years on the high court.

Some administration followers in the senate, however, were expected to urge Mr. Roosevelt to ignore geographical considerations.

FAVOR MUNY PLANT

MONROEVILLE —(UP)— Monroeville today was assured of its own municipal power plant, following an election at which citizens gave their approval by a vote of 389 to 119.

4 Crews Canvass City as Real Property Survey Gains Speed

An inventory of real property in the Mansfield area, being conducted by 42 WPA workers, swung into high gear today as four crews began a canvass of the sixth ward in the southeast portion of the city.

For the past two days 30 men and women have canvassed the South Boulevards district while 12 other workers have started to compile the data collected.

Headquarters for the group is located in the Chamber of Commerce assembly rooms in the Farmers bank building.

Harold Mansfield, director of the project, said that when the survey is completed in the sixth ward, workers would move into the fifth.

The canvassers, who are asking householders for a variety of information concerning the size of the families, type of house, conveniences in the home, whether the property is owned by the occupant or rented, have been given a good reception since the outset of the project, Mansfield said.

Stressing the confidential manner in which individual answers in the survey will be handled, Mansfield pointed out that those employed on the project were required to take an oath that they would not reveal the information for commercial or other purposes.

"The various data will be compiled in a city-wide report," Mansfield said. "We are not interested in the individual home as a unit. The information from each will be used only in compiling percentages for each section."

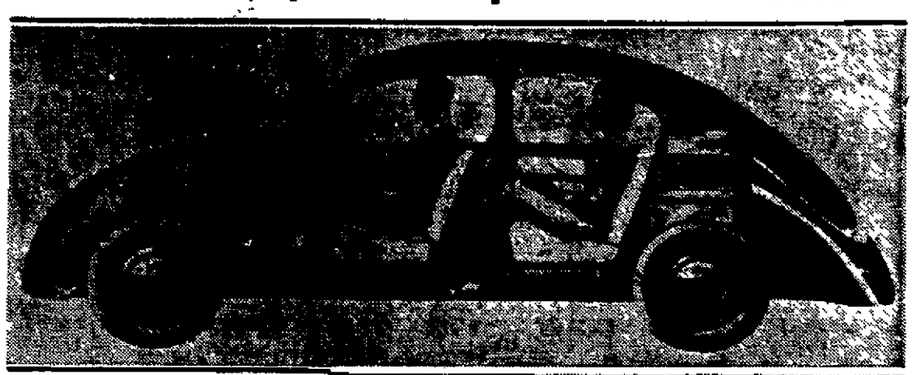
Nazis, Japs Develop 'Blockade' Cars



Germany's Volkswagen.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Automobiles that sell for less than $400 and get 35 miles to a gallon of gasoline, cars that run on wood or charcoal, gasoline made from coal, rubber made from limestone and coal—these are the answers of Germany and Japan to threat of blockade in event of war and loss of their petroleum supplies.

Germany's Volkswagon or "strength-through-joy" car would appeal to many Americans. Designed to make the Reich independent of foreign manufacturers and place an automobile within the means of every German, it is to sell for $396 in $2.40 weekly installments.

Its designers claim for it a speed of 60 m.p.h., gasoline consumption of only a gallon every 35 miles, and 60,000-mile usage without repairs. The engine is in the rear, permitting space for luggage and spare tire under the hood and increased leg room for passengers.

Short on petroleum but long on low-grade coal, Germany also has developed methods of extracting gasoline from coal and is using fuel increasingly. Synthetic rubber, made from coal, limestone, water and air, also is extensively used and will be employed in the Volkswagon tires.

Cars that burn wood instead of gasoline are another of Germany's answers to possible blockade. Thousands of wood-burners already are in use, and German roads are lined with wood-tanking-stations."

Japan, which is short not only on petroleum but coal as well, has adopted the wood-burner as its means of keeping the wheels [illegible]

In the lower picture, a group of government officials examine Japan's latest development, the charcoal car, at an exhibition of the strange machines in Tokyo. The charcoal-burning apparatus, which looks something like an old-fashioned stove, is carried in the luggage compartment.

3-INCH SNOW ROUTS 'SPRING'

It's Winter Again, Mercury Down to 29; Cold Due to Stay With Us.

Winter played a return engagement in Mansfield today with a three-inch snowfall, after spring had another of her brief flings yesterday.

From a high of 50 degrees yesterday, the temperature declined steadily until 24 degrees was reached during the night. But the average for the past 24 hours was 37, which is seven degrees higher than the average for the past 14 years for a similar period. It was back to 29 this noon.

Yesterday the sun was bright and there was a heartening warmth in the atmosphere, but late last night a cold rain quickly turned to snow flurries, and by midnight there was a fair-sized blizzard going, with streets covered with a slush and ice.

Weather bureau forecasts pointed to cloudy and colder tonight, Thursday fair and colder.

The rain and snowfall was general over the state and today several state highways in the southern part of the state were closed because of water over the roads. It was believed that there was no immediate danger of the waters of the Ohio river rising to the danger point, however.

Cincinnati this morning found itself under a blanket of four inches of snow. All air travel at Columbus airport was halted today because of weather conditions.

RISING AGAIN

Ohio River To Reach Flood Stage At Cincy Tomorrow.

CINCINNATI — (NS) — Swelled by heavy rains and snow throughout the valley, the Ohio river continued to rise today at Cincinnati and was expected to reach near-flood stage tomorrow.

According to W. C. Devereaux, meteorologist, the stream is climbing one-tenth of a foot hourly, and should reach a crest of 51 or 52 feet tomorrow.

WOUNDS FATAL

Clevelander Dies of Shots Fired In Attempted Holdup.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Robert Brown, 28, of Cleveland, died today of bullet wounds inflicted yesterday in an attempted holdup of the Cedar Country club, operated by Benny Mason, former "policy" figure.

Brown was shot by Charles C. Jackson, club watchman, police said. Two companions escaped.

O.S.U. Student Pays $3 Fine For Overloading Auto.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Motorcycle Officer Lloyd W. Vest stopped an automobile on a street last night and told the passengers to unload.

It was a lengthy process. From the running boards, hood, etc. came nine Ohio State university students. And from within the car came 12 more.

Driver Paul Elleman, jr., paid a $3 fine for unlawful riding.

NO COMPLIMENT

Holt and Fish Least Useful in Congress, Newsmen Say.

NEW YORK—(UP)—Look magazine said today that Washington newsmen, "who know the 76th congress best," had decided by secret poll that the least useful senator is Rush Holt of West Virginia; the least useful representative, Hamilton Fish of New York.

Other selections included:

Second least useful senator—Theo Bilbo of Mississippi.

Second least useful representative—(A three-way tie) Martin Dies, of Texas; A. J. Sabath, Illinois; C. E. Hoffman, Michigan.

Most useful senator—George W. Norris, Nebraska.

Most useful representative—Sam Rayburn, Texas.

LOYALIST CHIEFS FACING DEATH

Government Leaders On Trial For Lives In Insurgent Court.

BARCELONA —(AP)— Six Spanish government leaders went on trial for their lives today while only military formalities stood between Eduardo Barriobero, first president of Madrid-Barcelona Peoples' tribunals, and an insurgent firing squad.

Barriobero, 61-yead-old anarchist lawyer, was sentenced to death last night by an insurgent military tribunal in the same room of the palace of justice where he himself once pronounced death sentences on insurgent sympathizers.

He will be executed as soon as the captain-general of the military district formally approves the sentence.

Drops Quarters In Car's Gas Tank, Nets $25.75.

CHANUTE, Kas. —(AP)— Every time L. A. Cottrell bought a tank of gasoline for his car he dropped a quarter in the tank.

The other day he bought a new car. When he had torn the old gas tank apart he found he had saved $25.75.

BEGIN CHECK TO CUT WPA ROLLS

50 Interviewers at Work in District; Non-Citizens to Be Dismissed.

An investigation of the financial and citizenship status of Richland county's 1,100 WPA workers, launched today under a national order, is expected to result in dismissal of from 5 to 10 per cent of the workers because of ineligibility, WPA officials said.

Fifty interviewers started a check today in Ohio district No. 6 which includes Richland county. The investigation is scheduled for completion by March 25.

Information obtained from workers while on their projects will be submitted to the state office for study, and dismissal of ineligible workers will follow, A. H. Moellenkamp, county project supervisor, said today.

"Workers who are not American citizens and those who have other means of support will fall under the dismissal ruling," Moellenkamp asserted. Dismissals probably will begin late this month, he said.

A recent investigation by county welfare case workers brought the replacement of more than 100 persons on WPA who were found to have other incomes or jobs available.

The investigation, first of its kind since WPA was inaugurated, will put 500 interviewers and 190 office employes to work in Ohio. The project will cost $150,000.

If the investigation brings dismissal of 10 per cent of Richland county's WPA workers, jobs would be provided for about 110 needy persons. The interviewers will question both men and women on all work relief projects.

House Leaders Seek to Halt Congress-White House 'Strife'

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — (UP) — House Democratic leaders, sought today to allay the dissatisfaction among hitherto loyal New Dealers over alleged "lack of co-operation" from the White House.

A Democratic caucus yesterday, called to impress new members and old with the necessity of party unity, against a militant Republican opposition turned into a recital of grievances against President Roosevelt

Rep. Jennings Randolph, D., W. Va., complained that President Roosevelt's request on congress for an additional $150,000,000 for relief this year, made simultaneously with his signing of a $725,000,000 appropriation, amounted a "slap in the face."

Randolph refused to discuss what he had said in the secret session, but others reported that his remarks drew strong applause from the Democrats. Randolph has been one of the President's strongest supporters in the house.

Those who attended the caucus said Randolph contended that congress had given thoughtful consideration to Mr. Roosevelt's original request for $875,000,000 for relief and decided, after considering all the evidence, that $725,000,000 was enough.

To have the president announce a "grumbling" acceptance of the appropriation and "in the same breath" to demand the amount congress had cut from his request verged on insult, Randolph was reported to have said.

11th Hour Loan Saves School Pay

Nearly 'Broke,' Board Borrows $50,000 to Meet Payroll.

Mansfield teachers and school employes today escaped another threatened "payless payday" by a matter of hours when the board of education borrowed $50,000 to meet the $19,600 payroll for the first half of February.

As on several other occasions since September, the loan came in the nick of time to permit the "ghost" to walk for teachers, bus drivers and custodians who otherwise might have been forced to wait for their checks. The board had only $12,000 to meet the payroll.

The loan, authorized at a special meeting of the board late yesterday, will keep the schools operating until an advance can be obtained against the real estate tax collection and the state department of education releases the city's quarterly share of school foundation funds.

Negotiations for the loan were completed this morning and checks were released immediately to the city's teachers and school workers.

"When we get the county and state funds about the middle of March we should be in sound financial condition for the rest of the school year," H. W. Arlin, board president, asserted.

The loan, which was obtained from the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, boosted the school board's operating debt to $95,000. The board owes $45,000 on a loan authorized in December against a delayed allocation of state foundation money. The state, however, will pay off that debt.

Due this month, the first quarterly allocation of state funds will be delayed until after March 1 because the state legislature has not approved a $12,000,000 appropriation for schools, the board was informed.

A delayed collection of real estate taxes, scheduled to open Monday, will deprive the schools of county tax money for another three weeks, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said.

Arlin, the board president, said renewal of a three-mill operating levy for school purposes will be submitted to voters in November.

The levy expires this year. It has been in effect for the past 15 years and provides approximately $150,000 annually for operation of schools. Voters approved the levy six years ago for a five-year period, but a year of "grace" was granted to enable the board to re-submit the levy.

LOOT $200,000

5 Gunmen Empty Safety Boxes in Swank Miami Hotel.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — Five holdup men rifled a bank of safe deposit boxes in the Blackstone hotel early today and escaped with loot placed by some sources at between $150,000 and $200,000.

The figure was obtained by the Miami Daily News from insurance investigators who declined to be quoted directly. Police Chief H. V. Yocum and hotel officials said, however, no estimate of the loss could be made pending a further check.

The paper also reported four of the bandits carried submachine guns and the fifth a revolver. Chief Yocum said his information was that the one was armed with a sub-machine gun.

BLAZE AT SANDUSKY

SANDUSKY—(AP)—Fire Chief Wilson McLaughlin today estimated at $15,000 damage caused by fire to a three-story building occupied by a flower shop. Four firemen were overcome by smoke in fighting the blaze.

PRELATES MAP DEFINITE PLAN FOR ELECTION

All Princes of Church Will Reach Vatican in Time for World Conclave.

VISIT CRYPT OF PIUS

Mourners at St. Peter's Church Permitted to See Walled Tomb of Dead Pope.

(By International News Service)

VATICAN CITY — The forthcoming world conclave of the sacred college of cardinals to elect a successor to Pope Pius XI has been fixed definitely for the morning of March 1.

This was learned today from an unimpeachable source after the cardinals met in an "open session" congregation this morning to begin mapping final plans for the election.

All to Arrive In Time.

High Vatican authorities told International News Service that all the cardinals who are expected to attend the conclave are now scheduled to reach the Eternal City by the first of next month.

The late Pontiff's two secretaries, Mgr. Canfalonieri and Mgr. Venini, who yesterday placed a silken veil over the Holy Father's face before he was finally laid to rest in the crypt of St. Peter's Basilica, said mass this morning before the newly sealed tomb.

Mourners who went to the church also were allowed to view the crypt and gaze in reverent awe at the walled niche where rests the body of the Pope, who often during the last years of his life would "gaze at the stars and say:

'Here I, too, will some day find sweet repose."

Meanwhile, still more cardinals were converging upon Rome to take up their duties and participate in the election of the man who will assume the tasks of the dead "Pope of Peace." When the congregation of cardinals meet tomorrow it will receive members of the diplomatic corps.

Seek American Views.

The forthcoming arrival of the two American cardinals who are aboard the Italian liner Rex — George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago and Denis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia—was awaited with keenest interest.

William Cardinal O'Connell of Boston is due in Rome a little later than his two compatriots, but is expected to arrive in time for the election.

It was indicated the three Americans may exercise a weighty

Aged Suicide-Bent Woman Heeds Plea of City, Relents

TOLEDO —(AP)— Publicity and pride appeared today to have turned a 70-year-old woman from self-destruction to a firmer grip on life.

A funeral contract dating from 1934 was torn up by the woman, whom a funeral director refused to identify.

She told the undertaker last Wednesday she intended to "complete" the contract—"finish this thing"—because she was poverty stricken. He implored that she wait a week. She agreed.

Then a newspaper published the incident. Came a shower of job offers.

An irate "party of the first part" returned to the funeral establishment yesterday. She asserted the public's response to unwanted publicity was ill disguised charity.

She ripped the contract to bits.

(P. S.—Police have received no report of an aged suicide).

HOME EPIDEMIC

Whooping Cough, Measles, Mumps Plagues Same Family.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. —(AP)— Health officials hung three signs on the front door of a Williamsport home. They announced:

"Whooping cough."

"Measles."

"Mumps."

Beneath the signs, the owner hung a fourth. It said:

"What is home without them?"

Anti-Hate Recipe For Beauty

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Well, of all things—a beauty recipe from that most dignified of legislative bodies, the United States Senate!

Senator Robert R. Reynolds, Democrat, of North Carolina, hands out a peerless recipe for beauty. Furthermore, it doesn't cost a cent. And it's more effective than all the creaming and steaming they'll give you in a beauty barlor at five dollars per throw.

Says Senator Reynolds: "Don't get angry. Nothing ages like that." Facially, the Senator is a pretty good illustration of his own beauty treatment; he shows fewer crow's feet than some of the others who go into rages and "view with alarm."

He injected this advice on beauty in his speech the other day, on foreign relations. The goings-on of some countries and their dictators came in for considerable sound and fury on the part of certain of the Senator's colleagues. Said Senator Reynolds: "I love everybody. I don't hate anybody. Do you know why I don't hate anybody? Because hate makes you age more quickly than anything else in the world, and I want to stay young as long as I can."

Now, girls, here's a grand recipe if you'll only take it.

This anti-hate treatment is the origin of a good many warnings in proverbs, such as, "Curses come home to roost," which probably means that the curse will light on your own countenance. And Shakespeare warns us, "Cherish those that hate thee."

Marriage Meddlers

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"No—you did not hurt me in the least," Miss Whitlock said pleasantly, and both Mary and I heard her father-in-law's elaborate indrawn breath of relief.

"I am so glad," he said. "I never should have forgiven myself if my carelessness had resulted in injury to you. My fountain pen dropped out of my pocket and rolled somewhere. I had to let one elevator go while I looked for it. I had just found it and was stooping to pick it up when you opened the door. But here comes the elevator again. Do you wish to take it?"

"No, thank you," Miss Whitlock's voice was crisp. "I simply wish to ask the operator for a dinner menu."

"Permit me," Mr. Veritzen said, and then we heard him telling the man to bring a menu up. Then there was a courteous "Good day!" and after a long minute the nurse came back into the room, shutting the door emphatically behind her.

"He's really gone down this time," she said, "and, if you ask me, I don't think he'll be back again this trip. He came pretty nearly losing that poise of his when I almost knocked him over as I came out of the door."

"What—what was he doing?" Mary asked.

"Stooping down in front of the door," the nurse returned, "and maybe he was looking for his fountain pen, as he said he was. But if he wasn't your respected father-in-law, and a great man in his line to boot, I'd say he was just plain listening at the keyhole to hear whatever he could. But I won't say it."

"Say anything you like, and see if I care," Mary retorted. "Did you see that act he and I put on when he was leaving? Dear Daddy and Darling Daughter, and one of us meaning just as much of it as the other, which was just exactly zero. I do hate to think of Noel's father listening at keyholes, but, honestly, I wouldn't put anything past the old hyena."

"Mary, Mary!" I murmured perfunctorily, although secretly I agreed with her. "Let's give him the benefit of the doubt. He may have dropped his fountain pen, at that."

"What difference does it make?" she inquired wearily, and again I silently agreed with her. "I want to know two things. One is the reason for his approving my rehearsal so heartily, and the other is why he's snaking you back to the farm when he's been so insistent that you stay put here."

For an instant I debated the propriety of telling her the request that her father-in-law had made of me. Then my remembrance of the man's ruthlessness toward Noel and Mary put all qualms out of my mind. I had not promised secrecy as to his request—he had not even asked it—and a sense of justice told me that Mary was entitled to any knowledge I had concerning the father-in-law who, I was sure, was plotting against her.

"Your first question, dear, I cannot answer," I said slowly. "I am just as puzzled over his enthusiastic reaction to your rendition of that role as you possibly could be. I had expected criticism, and the absence of any is exceedingly perplexing.

"As for your second question," I went on, "I am as astonished over it as you will be. He wants me to go down to the farm, arrange an interview for him with Queen Olga, and be present at the interview."

Older Woman Requires Make-Up

By MME. QUI VIVE

It takes the young fry to lay down the law, to make sweeping statements with no qualifications. For example, there is the pretty young creature with lips a natural cherry red who says that no woman who has seen her fortieth birthday should ever use rouge. That's putting it pretty strong. There are plenty of forty girls without a sign of a wrinkle or a single grey hair.

No rule will do for all. Women of sixty, those even older, are often improved in appearance with a wild rose blush upon their cheeks, a faint synthetic coloring on their lips.

Clumsy make-up methods are as unpleasing on the young as the middle aged. Blobs of factory blushes with unblended edges show a careless hand and lack of fastidiousness. So do lip smears that are not evenly distributed or clearly outlined.

The purpose of make-up is to supply that which nature has not provided in the way of coloring. If it doesn't flatter, it is a failure.

As a woman advances in years she must realize that changes in appearance are going on all the time. The skin may take on a blue cast or a yellow tone. Texture too, undergoes a transition. The epidermal coat may become so velvety that its natural state is more attractive than the powdered surface. If wrinkles appear, the high lights of make-up must be toned down.

The intelligent woman needs no suggestions. She will know just how far she can go with her complexion batik She will stop when the job is finished.

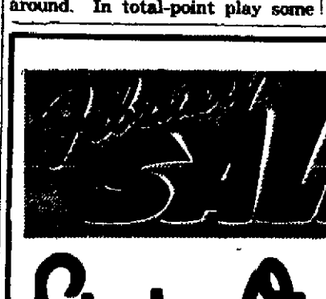
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHY BE AFRAID?

THOUGH PROPER BIDDING of four-car suit lengths is practically the heart and soul of good contracting, there are still many fair-to-middling players who are afraid of them. Perhaps that is because there are still plenty of partners who will raise their four-card suits with a holding of three cards including a high honor. If your partner can be depended upon to have four cards when he raises your suit, except in rare situations, you may bid them with confidence and aplomb, and so will find many of those desirable four-four fits.



(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable).

This deal was followed all around the room in a six-table match, but only one pair got into the best contract. Everywhere there were three passes and South started with 1-Club, West overcalled with 1-Heart and North bid 2-Clubs.

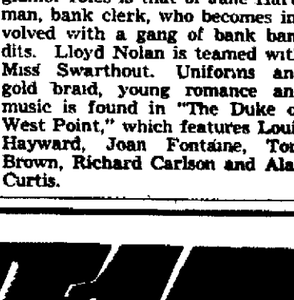
Then came the variations. At one table, East had the temerity to bid 2-Diamonds, South 3-Clubs, West 3-Diamonds and North 4-Clubs, a contract which was made and was worth 130 points, 80 for the tricks plus 50 for the part-score bonus.

At only one table, when the 2-Clubs reached South, did he make the correct bid of 2-Spades. North raised to 3-Spades, and South made this, for a top on the hand. West led the heart K, then the Q, which South ruffed. Followed two top spades, then clubs. East ruffing the second and returning a heart, South ruffing. East thereafter got another trump and another heart trick, but no more.

If experts had been at the table, practically all of them would have bid spades on the second time around. In total-point play some would have gone to four and been set because of East's bunched trumps.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

If North bids diamonds here and South clubs, the side winding up at 6-No trump played by South, what should West lead and why?

THEATERS

ANNOUNCEMENT that Director George Cukor had resigned from the megaphone work on the "Gone With the You-Know-What" after only three weeks of work, aroused not the faintest furore. In fact everyone will be terribly surprised if the film is ever finished, after its hectic kicking around. Betty Compson—one of the old timers who did the unforgettable role opposite Thomas Meighan in "The Miracle Man"—is thrilled at her tests for the role of Belle Watling, the "fancy lady" in Margaret Mitchell's Civil war drama. Betty would be an ideal casting in that role.

* * *

New Role for Swarthout.

Gladys Swarthout takes a sharp departure from the frills and springtime romances of her operatic stories in her latest film, "Ambush," which will be one of the Madison theater's two features for the last half of the week. Far removed from her previous glamor roles is that of Jane Hartman, bank clerk, who becomes involved with a gang of bank bandits. Lloyd Nolan is teamed with Miss Swarthout. Uniforms and gold braid, young romance and music is found in "The Duke of West Point," which features Louis Hayward, Joan Fontaine, Tom Brown, Richard Carlson and Alan Curtis.

Difference of Opinion.

There is a sharp difference of opinion among movie followers on the ability of Nancy Kelly, the "find" of the year for 20th-Century-Fox. Her company has given her a tremendous build-up and went so far as to star her with Tyrone Power in "Jesse James," a move that was almost unprecedented in filmdom. But many critics as well as movie patrons feel that here is a promising novice who will take considerable training and experience. In "Jesse James," now at the Ohio, she plays the childhood sweetheart and wife of the Missouri bad man.

* * *

Corner on Dimples.

Teaming Sonja Henie and Richard Greene looks like an attempt to corner the dimple market in Hollywood, for the little skater has filmdom's most famous feminine dimples, while the young English actor is very self-conscious of the most flashing masculine dimples. These two are co-starred in "Lucky Star," current at the Ritz. Cesar Romero and Joan Davis are in the cast. The bill also has Margaret Sullavan, James Stewart and Walter Pidgeon in "Shopworn Angel."

* * *

Team of He-Men.

Richard Dix and Chester Morris are rivals for the hand and affections of Joan Fontaine in "Sky Giant," onde of the Park attractions for the remainder of the week, starting Thursday. Dix and Morris, well-known he-men of the screen, are fellow pilots for a transport line and set off on a round the world expedition a few minutes after the girl has married the wrong man. A new Tarzan of the screen makes his appearance in "Tarzan and the Green Goddess." He is Herman Brix, Olympic champion.

* * *

Twice a Mystery.

A mystery so bewildering that it has to be solved twice is the situation in "While New York Sleeps," in which the roving reporters, Michael Whalen and Chick Chandler, appear. The film is at the Majestic. Pretty Jean Rogers not only helps the plot along but adds to the entertainment value with music and dances. "Gold Is Where You Find It" is an action-filled romance and battle between two groups in the hills of California, with George Brent and Olivia de Havilland.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, Feb. 16.

The sidereal operations for this day seem to put the accent on private affiliations, with much stirring by way of jollification, celebration and easy ways for spending in personal extravagance or indulgence. Be discreet in this particular, for in a business aspect there may be much to be gained by attention to affairs of importance. Diplomacy, tact, even undercover agreements may figure greatly to the advantage. Let prudence, not over-confidence, assist to major decisions.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very important year, although major affairs, calling for decisive action and wise judgment, may be highlighted by much festivity and social celebration. But be wise in avoiding excessive indulgence and unjustified extravagance. Superiors and influential persons should be approached with prudence and diplomacy rather than ostentation, overconfidence and assurance.

A child born on this day may be splendidly endowed with business talents as well as social graces to make a fine success of its life. However, a proclivity to extravagance, show, boastfulness and self-indulgence should be dealt with in early life.

Every amateur ought to have a cold frame, if only to grow lettuce in. If seeds are sown the latter part of March there will be lettuce to eat in a few weeks, with radishes as a sort of side crop grown between the lettuce plants. When hot weather comes it will be found that lettuce grown in the cold frame will head nicely and be crisp and tender, while that grown in the open ground will mostly go to seed. This is the secret of growing good summer lettuce, and few people know it.

CHAPTER XXVI.

"The surf is pretty rough this morning but shall we try it?" Jay said.

Alix smiled. "If you'll hold on to me."

"I'll love it—and you know it."

They came back a little later, came back laughing, and Jay lay face downward on the sand and Alix tied the absurd little kerchief over her blowing hair again. And when her hand was idle, he reached and took it and said, smiling, "If I'm quiet, think nothing of it. I'm planning a campaign of all the things we're going to do and the places we're going to see while you're here. I've never kissed Bernice but I'm going to when I see her."

"She and Don are calling on your mother today."

He laughed. "They are?"

"I didn't know until this morning that she knew your mother. I thought that you and she were just ship acquaintances."

"Bernice knew mother when I was an incorrigible brat at military school."

"You and Bernice planned this, didn't you, our coming up here?"

"Yes. Guilty. I pleaded and she gave in. I couldn't lose you, darling."

She wanted to say, looking down on the sleek blond head and fine tanned body, "I am lost. Don't you know it? Lost and drifting. Don't love me too much, Jay. Because loving is suffering. You have to grow up suddenly and painfully before you know that. And you have to cry and have your heart broken before you really know what it is. But not all your heartbreak nor all your tears alter your love. You can't take back something you have given. And so it isn't something you can give to some one else.

Suddenly she felt years older than the Alix of last March who had loved Kurt the instant she saw him. That younger, unafraid Alix had not dreamed that her questions of love would be answered—the hard way.

* * *

Jay looked at her from under his arm and squinted in the sun. "This afternoon? And tonight? There are some tennis matches tomorrow you'll want to see me." His fingers tightened around hers. "You look awfully good to me, darling. Life looks awfully good to me. Never better. I'm in love with you. What are you going to do about it?"

She drew her hand away. "Jay, never speak to a hungry girl about love. I'm sure it's lunch time. It must be."

But before she went down to lunch she wrote to Tuck, "There's conspiracy, Tuck, but it's with the best intentions. And Jay is a wonderful playmate and he's a new type to me. You might not approve of him but you couldn't help liking him. And because I'm a new type to him he thinks he's in love with me. But I'm probably his big romance of this summer.

"I'm still in love with Kurt and I'll love him forever, Tuck, no matter what happens. There is only one for me. There is no one else for me.

"Don't work too hard, dear. I'll be down to see you when I get back and tell you all about this beautiful and terribly expensive place."

That afternoon on the beach she met scores of people, lovely sunburned girls and young men cut from the same pattern as Jay. That evening, wearing a long white frock and a gardenia in her hair, she danced with Jay in the large ballroom of the hotel.

And all the time she danced he'd been making ardent love to her with words — "Alix, darling, there's a handsome guy named Miles on the sideline but if he tries to cut in, I'm not going to give you up."

Then, "Alix, didn't you know that I was falling in love with you more every minute when I was at Ivy House?"

And then, "Darling, say something. No, let's go out of here. Too many men looking at you, too many girls jealous. You're going to be a great success with the men but poison to the women."

They went out on the veranda that overlooked the ocean.

"There is even a moon," he said. "For us. Don't you like that—for us?"

"Jay. . . . ."

He put his arms around her and drew her closer. "I know what you're going to say—that you don't love me. But you will. You will, Alix."

She looked up, knowing that he was going to kiss her and thinking, "Perhaps I will. Perhaps I'll learn to love you if I try very, very hard. Bernice would like it so much. I wouldn't be a problem to her any more. She'd be so proud of me if I'd marry you, Jay."

* * *

Alix and Jay were seen together everywhere—on the beach, in various ballrooms, and at the tennis matches. And at night when his car, the sleek dark phaeton, passed, people knew that the slim fair girl from Baltimore was with him. She had met his mother, the formidable Mrs. Harvey, at tea and had come away knowing that the meeting Jay dreaded had been successful. Mrs. Harvey liked her and approved of her. Bernice was delighted.

And now the three weeks were drawing to a close. That she had enjoyed them she could not deny. They had been gay and colorful and interesting. Jay's devotion had not altered in the slightest. He had been good for her, she knew. His love and his attentions had taken away much of the hurt and the self-pity and the sadness that had warped her days and nights. But she could not love him enough to spend the rest of her life with him. Nor could she feel anything more than tenderness when he kissed her.

* * *

It was their last night. Jay had dined at their hotel and now he and Alix had driven along the road parallel with the beach, had gotten out, and walked down to the beach. She stood still at the water's edge and he came up behind her and put his arms around her, turned her about, and kissed her.

"Alix, will you marry me?"

"Will you be very hurt if I tell you I can't, Jay?" The ones you don't love, the ones you can't love always want to marry you, she thought. Eddie. . . . Now Jay. . .

"Of course I'll be hurt. But you aren't going to tell me that."

"It is what I must tell you. I must tell you that I don't love you enough. Love is not fair, Jay, ever. We always want what we can't have. It isn't that you haven't been wonderful to me. You have. You've been a wonderful playmate. And I'm terribly flattered. I'm flattered, and I like you, and we have fun together but that isn't loving you enough to marry you."

"You still. . . ."

"I'm still in love with Kurt Deering. You've put that love to a very severe test. Do you know that? No one has ever made love to me as you have. No one has ever said the lovely things you've said. But loving him remains strong and sure. I'd like to change it. I've even thought I'd like to hate him for what loving him has done to me, for spoiling other men for me, for putting me through what I've been through since March, for making me suffer and cry for it and it's still strong and sure."

"He's a fool."

"If he's a fool, than I'm in love with a fool. Gina was in his heart before I came. Oh, don't you see. . . ."

He nodded. "I see very well. I took a chance. It was worth it. I don't regret it. You're my first failure, Alix. That should be a triumph for you."

"Don't be bitter."

He smiled. "My first failure and my first success with my mother. She liked what she called your good common sense. She thought you'd be a great little balance wheel for me. Oh, well. . . ."

"You're being very nice about it. I'm glad it isn't going to end on a bitter, reproachful note."

"The cards were all against me. But I still say it was worth the chance."

"I never wanted to hurt you. I know too well what it means to be hurt. Shall we go back now?"

(To be continued)

NEED OF PROPER DIET STRESSED BY HEALTH SCHOOL LECTURER

The axiom that a man is what he eats is one of the simple truths that will be the basis of one of Dr. Alexander Davis' lectures when this health and beauty expert conducts The News-Journal's first charm school next week.

The school, free to readers of the paper, will be conducted at Senior high school auditorium next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 2 to 4 p. m.

"If women realized the necessity of proper diet in maintaining a beautiful complexion, sparkling teeth, velvety skin, and luxuriant hair, as well as controlling the weight of the body, they would give considerable more thought to the selection of their food," Dr. Davis said today.

Every woman, especially the one on whom the responsibility of a home rests, should know the science of food and something of chemistry and chemical reactions of foods on the body, he believes. On the other hand, he points out it is not necessary for a woman to be an extremist or food fadist.

"The cells and organs of the body receive their nourishment from the blood stream," Dr. Davis said, "and therefore the blood must contain all of the elements in the right proportion that make for a clear skin, clear, bright eyes, healthy, lusterous hair and even the skin's coloring."

In his three lectures for the charm school, Dr. Davis will discuss the relationship of health and beauty and the essence of charm. Of the three lectures the first and last will be open to the general public, while the Tuesday afternoon session will be for women only.

CAST CHOSEN

10 Students Given Roles in Red Masque Club Play.

Ten members of the Red Masque club, student dramatic group at Senior high school, were named today to the cast of "Lavender and Old Lace," a three-act comedy drama to be presented by the club in the high school auditorium March 16.

The cast, selected by E. L. Heasley, school dramatic instructor, is made up of Betty Hanlon, Albert Poth, Miriam Jenkins, Vivian Miller, Ruth Smith, Harold Duda, Willis Wygant, Ruth Meisel, Richard Wright, Gertrude Kullman.

Tryouts for the play were held last Frinday and yesterday after school. The production staff will be named this week.

* * *

"The Routine of a Credit Bureau," a one-act play will be presented at a meeting of the Senior high school Commercial club tomorrow after school. The cast includes George Kitrinous, Charlotte Brightbill and Norma Casey. Garnet Karl, president, will preside during the business meeting.

SPEAKS TO CLUB

VanDerau To Discuss Lives of Patriots at Kiwanis Luncheon.

Clarence L. VanDerau, manager of manufacturing at Westinghouse and recently elected president of the Chamber of Commerce, will address members of the Kiwanis club tomorrow noon at their luncheon meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

VanDerau's subject will be "Men Should Not Forget." He will discuss the lives of some of the nation's outstanding patriots including George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Dr. Harry L. Knox will be program chairman of the meeting.

WOES APLENTY

'Grandfather' of Own Two Children, Convicted in Tennessee.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn — (AP) — Fifty-four-year old John Burnett testified in criminal court he was the "grandfather" of his own two children.

Two months after he divorced the children's mother, he married her mother, thus becoming also his former wife's step-father.

Burnett was charged with assault and battery upon his first wife. His second wife was a witness for her daughter. Burnett was convicted.

SENTENCED ON OLD OFFENSE

Shelby Man, Father of 3, Gets 1 to 3 Years in O. S. R. as Probation's Revoked.

His probation revoked, Thomas Schwartz, 23, of Shelby, was to begin serving a one-to-20 year term in the Mansfield reformatory today for an offense he committed four years ago.

Schwartz, who was returned here from Los Angeles, Cal., four days ago, had been on probation since he admitted breaking into a Shelby filling station in 1935. Judge C. H. Huston withheld sentence then and gave Schwartz a five-year probation period.

Schwartz was sentenced yesterday afternoon by Judge Huston who revoked his probation for abandoning three small children three weeks ago to go to California. Sheriff E. P. Long returned Schwartz to Mansfield last Saturday.

Joseph Carl Gray, 44 of Cleveland, posted $500 personal bond yesterday and was released from the county jail where he had been held for two weeks on an indictment for non-support.

Judge Huston ordered Gray to go back to a job in Cleveland and support an 11-months-old child. The bond, set by Judge Huston, is to assure support of the child.

New 'Ripper Bill' Seeks to Oust Trustees at O. S. U.

MEASURE HITS 'STALLING' ON NAMING PREXY

Proposal Would Give Bricker Power to Appoint 9-Member Board for University.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Removal of the Ohio State University board of trustees was sought today in the latest "ripper" legislation proposed in the Republican-dominated Ohio legislature.

Gov. John W. Bricker would be empowered to appoint a new nine-member board to succeed the seven present trustees by a bill introduced by Sen. Grant P. Ward (R-Franklin).

Declaring that the board "has been stalling for a year" over the selection of a new president, Ward, an Ohio State alumnus, explained that his bill would pave the way for appointment of trustees who are alumni "and have the interest of the university at heart."

Seeks Assessment Aid.

Meanwhile, in the house legislators representing the 16 counties in the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy district sought reconsideration of a bill to lighten the load of landowners assessed for $6,000,000 in costs of a flood control project.

The house taxation committee tabled the bill last night after securities dealers and bondholders declared that a two-year moratorium on the payment of property assessments, as proposed in the bill, would be a default of the taxpayers' obligations.

The University board of trustees is controlled, 4 to 3, by appointees of former Gov. Martin L. Davey. They have expressed a desire to look outside the university for a successor to Dr. George W. Rightmire, who retired last July 1.

Ward said his bill would prevent future governors from obtaining control of the board.

His measure was introduced as the board's choice for a president was reported to have narrowed to Dr. Arthur H. Compton, noted physicist and Nobel prize winner of the University of Chicago faculty, and Dr. J. Lewis Morrill, vice president of Ohio State. Dr. William McPherson has been acting president of the school since Dr. Rightmire resigned.

Ward declined to say whether his bill had the backing of the Bricker administration. Governor Bricker said he had not discussed the measure with anyone and had no plans for reorganizing the board.

Lowly Toothpick Gets Benefactor In U. S. Dentistry

CHICAGO—(INS)—That social pariah, the lowly toothpick got a pat of praise on its skinny shank at the meeting of the Chicago dental society today.

Dr. Isador Hirschfield, associate professor of dentistry at Columbia university, took up the cudgel in its behalf.

America, he said, is too brush minded. Scrubbing your teeth before breakfast, for instance, is sort of silly, he said.

It is after meals that counts. After breakfast and before going to bed is enough. Even though germs do grow in the mouth overnight the teeth are still clean and you swallow most of the germs despite a brushing upon awakening, he said.

Too much brushing is almost as bad as none at all, he claimed. Ninety per cent of tooth brush users scrub too hard and too often. They wear off the enamel and injure the gums. Try a toothpick instead, he said.

SPEED BUILDING

Workmen to Have First Unit of Apartment Ready in April.

With the first unit of a $90,000 apartment building at West First and Blymyer streets scheduled for completion by April 18, work on the exterior of the structure was well under way today. The foundation for the first unit has been completed.

The Zediker Masonry company is constructing the building. A nine-suite wing will be completed first at the back of 125 by 250 foot site. Two other wings to complete the building will be erected later.

RITES THURSDAY

Death Takes Joseph W. Graham, 82, After Brief Illness.

Funeral services for Joseph W. Graham, 82, of 153 East Fourth street, who died in Thomas hospital Tuesday after a brief illness, will be held at the Wappner funeral home at 1:30 p. m. Thursday with Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be in the Galion cemetery.

Surviving are a son, John, of Mansfield; three grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren. The body is at the funeral home.

Senator Hits 'Bluffing' In Foreign Policy

Up and Down THE STREET

It was amusing last evening just before the stores closed to watch the men who rushed into downtown candy stores to buy a last-minute valentine. At one Main street spot they were going in and coming out like a procession of ants. One of the unsolved mysteries is why men put off until 5:15 on the special day buying those remembrances which have been in store windows as reminders for the past month.

* * *

Reese Mills, manager of the range and water heater department at Westinghouse, was given an unexpected "spot" last night at a party for magazine writers attending the annual Westinghouse kitchen clinic. During the floor show it was announced that the occasion was also the 20th anniversary of Mills' association with Westinghouse. He started work on Valentine day, 1919, at East Pittsburgh. The more-or-less bashful bachelor was called to the center of the floor and presented with 20 red roses by Jane Weuthrich.

Today is an important anniversary for Spanish war veterans . . . It was 41 years ago today that the Spaniards blew up the American battleship Maine in Havana harbor. A little more than two months later, April 24, Spain declared war on the United States, and this country made a similar declaration the following day. Within a few weeks Mansfield boys were going through the manual of arms and preparing to march away to another war while the battle cry of "Remember The Maine!" swept over the entire country. Tonight Camp Charles Dick of the United Spanish War Veterans, and its auxiliary, will hold its annual dinner at Memorial hall in commemoration of the anniversary.

The Mansfield school board yesterday proposed a financial transaction that would literally turn one kind of music into another. Board members authorized their clerk, Dr. John H. Bristor, to request bids on the 5,000-pound bell that called pupils to the old John Simpson Junior high school for 47 years. Proceeds from the sale of the bell will be used to purchase new instruments for the high school band. Made in Cincinnati in 1892, the bell is solid brass, and is was estimated that it is worth nearly $500.

Perhaps yesterday, with its warm sun and spring-like air, was just the sort of a day to suggest sprucing up, for a number of Mansfield women went to Senior high under the mistaken impression that The News-Journal charm and beauty school was in session. The dates—they're the same ones that were announced last week—are Feb. 20, 21 and 22—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Today had a double meaning for Mrs. Elizabeth Berg, 159 South Foster street, mother of Councilman George Berg, who will be honored at a family birthday dinner this evening. It was not only Mrs. Berg's 85th birthday anniversary, but it was also exactly 50 years ago today that she first came to Mansfield from Germany.

TOWS CRIPPLED SHIP TO PORT

Freighter Damaged in Crash With Oil Tanker During 'Pea Soup' Pacific Fog.

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO—The American-Hawaiian line freighter Virginian with a crew of 49 was being conveyed toward the Golden Gate today after a collision with the Associated Oil Tanker Solano six miles off Pt. Montara.

The Virginian had a deep gash in her hull and was reported to have taken 20 feet of water in her No. 2 hold.

Coast guard cutters Shoshone and Duane sped to the scene.

Neither the Virginian nor the Solano sent out an S.O.S. or an appeal for help.

The coast guard picked up a radio message sent from one of the vessels before sending out its cutters.

The collision occurred 10 miles south of the Golden Gate. The Virginian was headed for San Pedro with a general cargo. The Solano also was headed south along the coast with a cargo of oil for delivery at Ventura.

The vessels rammed in a "pea soup" fog that reduced visibility to zero. The Solano apparently was not seriously damaged. Her crew was ready to take off the people of the Virginian if need be.

BRITAIN SET TO INAUGURATE TRANSATLANTIC MAIL SERVICE

(By International News Service)

LONDON — Immediately Botwood Harbor, Newfoundland, is free from ice next spring, an experimental air-mail service will be started across the North Atlantic.

The Air Ministry has announced that the experimental air-mail service depends upon the results of air-refueling trials which will be carried out shortly.

These trials will be carried out by the Cabot, one of the strengthened Empire type of flying boats, now under construction by Messrs. Short Bros.

Extensive flying tests, consequent on recent modifications of the Albatross (DH91), landplanes, which are also being prepared for the trans-Atlantic service, are being carried out.

After consultation with Imperial Airways, the Air Ministry has decided that the first trans-Atlantic flights shall take place in the early spring.

TALK TO P. T. A.

Mrs. Boals, Attorney Kramer Speak at Session.

Mrs. F. D. Boals, president of the Mansfield P. T. A. council, and Atty. John F. Kramer, addressed members of the Bowman school Parent-Teacher association at a supper meeting last night.

Mrs. Boals spoke on "Founder's Day," in which she traced the history of the P. T. A. movement, and Atty. Kramer addressed the group on the subject, "Families, Past and Present." Atty. Kramer compared the homes and conditions of 60 years ago with the homes and conditions of today.

Raymond Dent sang as a solo, "The Lord's Prayer." The business meeting followed a covered-dish supper at 6:30 p. m. During the meeting, Emmett Izer, president of the association, was elected as delegate to the North-Central District conference of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers to be held in Ashland Feb. 23.

The next meeting of the association will be held April 4.

U. S. SECRECY AT ARMS HEARING GETS SCORING

Johnson Lashes at 'Dictator' Methods in Sharp Attack Against Maneuverings.

WASHINGTON—Striking with his old-time fury, Senator Hiram W Johnson (R) of California, today broke open the congressional controversy over the administration's foreign relations policy with a sharp attack upon "bluffing countries we don't like."

His criticism of the secrecy of the senate military affairs committee in its hearings on national defense and foreign relations, as well as the private conferences held by President Roosevelt with some senators, came as the committee met again behind closed doors.

'Dictator Methods.'

"It's ridiculous that the hands of U. S. senators should be tied and their mouths closed," Johnson stated in an interview. "It's worse than ridiculous that the people as a whole, shouldn't know what so intimately concerns them and what may mean life itself.

"This is the method of dictators—it is not democracy.

"Carry through the policy that has been adopted of secret contracts (with other countries) for delivery of our planes, upon which our technicians have worked, and upon which our money has been spent. Suppose we get half through with our deliveries and hostilities break out. Are we going to deliver them on the doubtful theory that it is a commercial transaction, or are we going to stand on the brink of the Atlantic ocean and, delivering them, make faces across the water? Of course, we will be at once in such hostilities as have broken out.

"Some of the adherents of the policy being pursued say we are just bluffing and by bluffing will keep these countries whom we don't like from fighting the countries we do like. I want no bluffing on a matter which concerns the lives of our people."

FAIR ENOUGH!

Show How Communist, 'Corporate' Press Differ In Advertising Relations

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

BALTIMORE: We have heard much about the relation between our press and the public and our press and the advertiser. Some of the top-loftiest scorn has been sounded by the Communists. The charge runs that our press is the corporate press, that it doesn't give opposing opinion a square rattle and that it helps exploiters to rob the people.

In a recent incident, of which a minor scandal was made in the radical press, a New York paper was accused of editing an advertisement for a book. The paper answered that the ad was edited to eliminate libel for which the publisher could have been held finally responsible.

* * *

Well, what about the Communist press? How does The Daily Worker, the Communist organ in New York, observe the code which the Communists and their fellow travelers lay down for others?

First, The Daily Worker is a corporation itself. It is incorporated for the same legal reasons that United States Steel is incorporated. It recently was hailed into court for failure to comply with the state law requiring publication of the names of the responsible officers of newspapers and, under this compulsion, complied.

Not long ago the Atlantic & Pacific stores, the great grocery chain, placed a big ad in a great many daily papers, presenting its argument against the Patman bill, which intended to abolish chain stores by taxing them to death.

* * *

A representative of The Daily Worker's advertising department called at the office of Carl Byoir, the professional propagandist, who ran the publicity program, and asked that The Daily Worker be given the ad. The Byoir office agreed and directed Paris & Peart, the advertising agents, to send the copy down to The Daily Worker.

Paris & Peart then received a letter signed by Nat Wein, on Worker stationery, inclosing an editorial which had been published by The Worker, denouncing the A. & P., and refusing to accept the ad, on the ground that "it would be a breach of propriety to be remunerated for publishing something which is contrary to the views expressed in the editorial page."

Atlantic & Pacific couldn't even buy space in this liberal organ to present the other side of the story.

"We assure you," Mr. Wein wrote Paris & Peart, "that we are always more than happy to insert the regular advertising of the A. & P., because we are convinced that we can thereby render the A. & P., unusual service in the way of accelerating the sales of their products and developing an increased number of satisfied and permanent customers."

* * *

Now, mark the preceding paragraph and cast your eye back over it as you read the following quotation from The Worker's editorial on the A. & P., which is slugged "The Fight to Protect the Corner Grocery Man."

* * *

The editorial says the A. & P. picks the pockets of the public every day, and "dares to speak as a friend of the farmers it cheats and bulldozes year in and year out."

*

Now go back and read again of the happiness it gives the Communist newspaper to accelerate sales for this ruthless monopoly.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Funny how historical characters, who all used to look like George Arliss, have begun to look like Tyrone Power . . .

A cool million in production value: Ann Sheridan, in those baby-blue sharkskin shorts she wears in "The Roaring Road."

Gracie Allen's a redhead for her role in "The Gracie Allen Murder Case"—but not to match George Burns' face. . . .

All the world's a sound stage—and everybody in it wants to help make movies . . . Including: the fellow who says he has several bullets fired by the real Jesse James . . . the lady who tried to work in her twisted nails taken from the wreckage of the Chicago fire—for "In Old Chicago" . . . the old boy who wrote in with the information that he once owned the property on which Alexander Graham Bell lived when he invented the telephone, that he saw the first line built and heard the first message over the wires . . . (But they'd already written the script for the biographical movie.) . . . Then there were the brothers who sent DeMille their family tree (proving descent from a real Crusader) as tickets for entree into his "The Crusaders" . . . But the funniest of all—again on a DeMille picture—concerns the search for a surviving eye-witness of ceremonies joining the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroads . . . Studio has one, found in the east—but what it doesn't know is that right here in Hollywood is another—the grandmother of a studio employe . . . DeMille's studio!

Hollywood's most-traveled "bungalow" (12 rooms) is on the move again . . . Belonged to Marion Davies at Metro . . . When Davies company moved to Warner Brothers in Burbank, house was divided into sections, carted the 20-odd miles by night, and replanted . . . Company is moving again to 20th Century-Fox, near Metro . . . Bungalow again is being dismantled—and every shrub and palm surrounding, tagged as to its exact location with reference to the house, is being transplanted too! . . . But whether Marion Davies will make movies at Zanuck's lot is still unannounced . . .

Today's best story, if you haven't heard it is the one about Sidney Toler and his mother.

* * *

Sidney's mother is 91, but still spry. She sat in a studio projection room with her son while "Charlie Chan in Honolulu" was being unreeled on the screen. She was excited—it was a great big moment.

When it was done, she said, "Oh, Sidney, that was wonderful! I enjoyed it so much. The quaint Chinese way you say things is very amusing. And just to think, you're going to be famous all over the world!"

Outside the projection room Toler saw it was raining.

"Wait here, mother," he said, "while I get the car."

And she waited, calmly, promising, "I won't stray a step."

And that's all—unless you happened to look closely and see that the patient little lady was—totally blind . . . For two years her sight had been failing. It went, completely, the week her boy finished his first starring picture . . .

Brotherhood Members Also See Pictures of Mexico.

More than 75 members of the Brotherhood of St. John's Evangelical church and guests attended the brotherhood's annual oyster supper last night in the church parlors.

Guest speaker for the evening was Walter Jordan who spoke on "Modern Mexico," and illustrated his talk with colored motion pictures of points of interest in Mexico.

During the business meeting a report on Boy Scout Troop No. 14, sponsored by the Brotherhood, was given by Philip Smith, district commissioner of the Johnny Appleseed area, and March 14 was set as the date for the annual "open house" meeting of the group. Frank Vild, president, presided at the meeting.

A table tennis tournament, staged after the meeting, was won by Rev. Paul Salesto, pastor, and Russell Minch. George Bergman and E. W. Wagner headed the committee in charge of the supper.

Revival of Interest In Wrestling and Swimming May Result In 'New Deal' For Minor Sports at Mansfield High School.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

A NEW EMPHASIS will probably be placed on minor sports at Mansfield high school in the future now that interest has been revived in wrestling and swimming.

EARL WHITEHILL

Mansfield was represented by grapple and tank teams this winter for the first time in several years. The two squads are experiencing mediocre seasons, but the caliber of the representation should develop if the sports are properly promoted in the future.

These sports, along with golf, which also is gaining more prestige as an interscholastic sport, are not as appealing from a spectator's standpoint as football, basketball and track, but there are places for them on any athletic schedule.

One thing in favor of minor sports is that they bring students other than football and basketball players into the sports picture, and this is one reason why they should be emphasized.

Swimming is the only minor sport on the Mansfield schedule which may never bring out a championship team.

The chief hindrance to the development of tank teams strong enough to compete on equal basis with other schools is the lack of adequate facilities. The pool at the high school is too small for competition, and, we understand, neither of the two new junior high schools will have pools.

* * * * *

WHITEHILL TO TRY COMEBACK IN NATIONAL LEAGUE.

THE National league will soon be known as the 'old men's' circuit. The latest former American star to join the senior loop is Earl Whitehill, 39-year-old southpaw, who was recently released by Cleveland. Whitehill joins the champion Cubs.

Although finishing fourth behind Don Lash, Joe McCluskey and Tommy Deckard, stars in any man's race, Gilbert Dodds of Ashland college did right well for himself in the two-mile run in the Boston A. A. games the other night. The Ashland student ran the two miles in nine minutes, 10.5 seconds, a tenth of a second faster than the accepted undergraduate national collegiate record set by Lash in 1936.

Mansfield will have to doff its chapeau to Fremont when it comes to bowling. The Fremont city tournament will get under way this week-end with a record entry of 64 teams. Mansfield will hold a city tourney in the spring, but there will not be 64 teams in the classic if the entry for last year's event is a criterion.

Three Ohio State league products will receive with major league clubs in the spring. Tony Luccadello will go to the St. Louis Browns' camp, Eddie Bastien will accompany the Cincinnati Reds and Harry Walker is slated for a trip with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Five of the basketball coaches in county rural schools are Ashland college graduates. They are Al Fendrick of Madison, Orville Kilber of Ontario, James Hunter of Union, Royd Hodge of Bellville and Earl Owens of Adario. Bob Burgett of Butler and Johnny Reese of Lexington are graduates of Ohio State. Alfred Axe of Lucas and Raymond Richards of Shiloh hail from Wittenberg and Don Dunham of Plymouth is a Defiance college graduate.

* * * * *

CHATLAIN IS MOST IMPROVED WITTENBERG PLAYER.

SOPHOMORE CENTER ED CHATLAIN of Mansfield is regarded at Wittenberg college as the most improved player on the team. Given a fairly good chance of making the first squad this season, Chatlain, who made his football letter last autumn, surprised even his most ardent boosters by winning a regular job against veteran competition. Saturday, for instance, he tallied 18 points in the Lutherans' victory over Bowling Green.

The New Philly Quakers, who have won 17 games out of 18 may not be much of a title threat this year. They will lose the services of Swihart, their ace center, on the eve of the state tournament if they battle their way that far. The age limit will rule the star out of action.

Seabiscuit Pulls Up Lame, Handicap King Bows to Today

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The turf world awaited news today on the condition of Seabiscuit and whether the six-year-old handicap king would ever race again.

The pride and joy of the Charles S. Howard string pulled up lame yesterday after running second to Today in a three-horse field that marked 'Biscuit's first appearance since he thrashed War Admiral, back at Pimlico last Nov. 1.

Defeat Disappointing.

The setback was a disappointment in itself, but the resultant injury threw a cloud of gloom over the Howard camp, where hopes have been high for a Seabiscuit triumph in the coming $100,000 Santa Anita handicap and the crowning of the noble son of Hard Tack as Turfdom's all-time money winning monarch.

Howard and his trainer, Tom Smith, viewed the horse's condition with grave anxiety, but the latter refused to believe that Seabiscuit was through running, and said nothing definite could be determined as yet.

Dr. J. H. Peters, a veterinarian called in by Howard, diagnosed the injury as a soreness of the left knee—observers insisted Seabiscuit favored the right leg as he left the track — but said it would take a while longer to find out how serious it was.

Yesterday's one mile race against Today, a 7-year-old horse bought a year ago by Neil McCarthy of Los Angeles from C. V. Whitney, and Tom Taggert's mare Marcia, was Seabiscuit's 85th trip to the post, and was to have been a tightener for the $100,000 race March 4.

Today Too Fast.

At the three-eighths pole Seabiscuit suddenly seemed to fall back as he and Today fought it out along the rail Jockey Georgie Woolf went to the whip in the last eighth and Seabiscuit moved gamely closer, but he couldn't catch Today, not by two and a quarter lengths. Today ran the mile in 1 35 3 5, bettering the track mark of 1 35 4 5 set in 193 by Top Row.

Seabiscuit, winner of $340,490 and within $36 000 of surpassing the great Sun Beau's record, has been troubled with his l gs off and on for years

Meder Pinners Bow to Paints

Wooster Rolls Big Last Game to Hit 3112.

The Meder Recreation pinsters ran into a storm of pins at Wooster last night, and came out of their special match with the Harris Paints a 3112 to 2885 tanning.

The Mansfield team was down only two pins at the start of the final game, but faltered badly to enable the Paints to run up their big margin. The hosts closed with a 1085, while the Medermen shot an 860.

Whitemyer and Schmidt, with totals of 679 and 662, led the Paints, while Clyde Ritter was high for the Mansfielders with a 613.

Billiards, Dairys Tangle In Feature

Play will be resumed in the abbreviated second round in the Senior league at the Friendly House Thursday night with the Rex Billiards, Augustine's Canfields and Miller Dairys tied for the lead.

The headline game will pit the Billiards, champions of the first round, against the Dairys, who pulled an upset a week ago when they trimmed the Blue Goose Sohleans. The game is billed at 7:45 p. m.

Augustine's team meets the Mansfie Cigars at 6:45, and the Sohleans tackle Raemelton Farm at 8:45.

Condon Scores 27 Points as Baptists Win

Park Church Runs Wild in Second Half to Win, 56-31.

Condon went on a scoring spree in the Class B Church league last night as the Park Avenue Baptists took the measure of First Christian, 56 to 31, at the Y.M.C.A.

He accounted for 27 points as the Baptists opened the second round of the title race with a victory. The Baptists, who won the first half crown, held only a 12 to 9 lead at the half, but tallied 44 points in the final periods to triumph in easy fashion.

Other high scorers for the Baptists were Rayburn and Hershey, who scored 12 and 10 points, respectively.

R. Collins scored 17 points and F. Wagner contributed 10 as First Presbyterian outpointed Central M. E., 34 to 29, and Dixon was high with 12 as South Main defeated Mayflower, 21 to 12. Smith hung up 10 points in First Lutherans' 31 to 18 triumph over First M. E.

TWO WORLD'S RECORDS TIED IN K. OF C. MEET

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—(UP)—Two indoor world records were tied last night in the second annual Knights of Columbus games here. Alan Tolmich, Wayne university hurdler, twice was timed in 5.7 as he topped the 45-yard timbers to equal Sam Allen's record, and Kenny Clapp, of Brown, won the 40-yard dash in 4.5 to equal Ben Johnson's unofficial time

Scheduled feature was the mile run, won by Glenn Cunningham in the not unusual time of 4:16. Glenn put on his usual last lap kick to outsprint Archie Sam Romani by five yards. Don Lash was third and Joe McCluskey fourth.

Shelby Next Foe for Tygers; Game's Scheduled Saturday

SATURDAY'S game at Mansfield high school will offer followers of the Tygers their next to last chance of the season to see their court favorites in action on the home planks.

Coach Russ Murphy's men engage Shelby Saturday night, and will be shooting for their fifth straight triumph

The Tygers invade Massillon Tuesday night in an attempt to avenge the gridiron defeat of last fall, and close their regular season on the home floor against the Canton McKinley combine the following Friday.

These three games should put the Tygers in fine shape for their defense of the district title in the tournament opening in Sandusky in March.

While the Tygers are favored to make it two straight for the season over the Whippets Saturday, Shelby has always been tough for the Mansfielders, and Murphy is not counting a pre-game victory.

It need not be emphasized that Massillon is virtually as tough on the court as on the gridiron, and Mansfield may find the Stark countians a little stronger than the majority of their foes.

Canton McKinley defeated Mansfield in their first meeting in Canton and this tussle will not need a build-up to attract a crowd.

Lester Shields Sets New Mark With 652

Jess Willard, Bill Fenn Pace Individuals In Mansfield Tire League With 615, 614 Scores.

LESTER SHIELDS established a new individual scoring record in the Transportation league at the Meder alleys last night. Bowling with the C. C. C. team, Shields piled up a snappy 652 total.

In his first game, Shields came through with six straight strikes to roll a 234 score. He fell to 189 in the middle tilt, but finished with a 229.

Jess Willard of the Mill Room team, Mansfield Tire league, turned in a consistent performance as he rolled games of 206, 205 and 204 for a 615. Bill Fenn of the Main Office No. 1 team blasted out a 614.

Neil Swank of the Shelby Cycle league pounded out a 607 and Dick Snyder of the New Ritz, Mansfield theater league, rolled an even 600.

MANSFIELD RECEIVED BID FOR DE VILBISS RELAYS

TOLEDO—(AP)—The first night track meet ever held in Toledo is being arranged by Devilbiss high school, which has invited high schools of Sandusky, Fremont, Mansfield, Dayton, Columbus and Cleveland to participate. The meet will be held May 5 at Devilbiss.

Of the 10 events planned, six will be relay races. The others will be the pole vault, high hurdles, 100-yard dash and high jump.

PLANS FOOTBALL TEAM

TOLEDO—(UP)—De Sales college will put its first football team on the field next fall, playing a schedule of six games, Athletic Director and Coach Al Sacksteder said today. The schedule includes games with St. Mary's of Michigan, Lawrence Tech, Assumption, Evansville, Ferris Institute and Grand Rapids.

DEADLINE THURSDAY

The deadline for entries in the Inter-City bowling tournament to be held in Findlay this year will close Thursday. Mansfield Bowling association officials warns team captains to file entries no later than Thursday night as the deadline will not be extended.

TONIGHT'S GAMES

CHURCH "A" LEAGUE
(at Y. M. C. A.)

6:45—Park Baptist vs St John's.
7:45—Episcopal vs. Temple Emanuel.
8:45—First Lutheran vs. First M. E.
9:45—Central M. E. vs. Mayflower.

NEW YORK—Bernie Friedkin, 134½, Brooklyn, and Joe Fontana, 131, Brooklyn, drew, (8).

Added to Card

Frank Sexton, above, state heavyweight title claimant from Sedalia, has been signed to wrestle the burly "Sailor" Curly of Gloucster, Mass., in the Armory Friday night. They will wrestle for two falls with a time limit of 90 minutes.

Maul Findlay College Five; Ashland Loses to Kent.

(By Associated Press)

Important events occurred last night in Ohio's two collegiate basketball loops—the Ohio and Buckeye conferences.

Second-place Wittenberg nudged up a bit on the pace-setting Wooster quintet by handing Findlay a terrific 84 to 41 drubbing in the Ohio conference.

Fourth-place Capital, in the same circuit, skipped to a 36 to 22 victory over Denison.

As for the ever-to-be-expected upset, Kent State's contingent—down among the conference alsorans—scored its second victory of the season over Ashland's mighty outfit, currently in fifth place, by a 45 to 33 count. Turning to the Buckeye whirligig:

Hitherto undefeated Ohio University fell before the third-place Marshall entry, 47 to 42. It was a sizzling contest, Marshall being in front at the half, 35-20.

In the Kent State-Ashland clash, the Eagles held a 20-15 edge at the rest period.

Toledo University's Rockets bagged their 14th win in 19 starts by flattening Akron University's Zippers, 51 to 31, in a non-conference encounter. Chuckovits of Toledo meshed 14 points, but he was tied for honors by Hayes, Akron center.

N. C. O. Champ Loses to Tally

Melvin and Ernie McKinley Punch Fast and Hard to Win on Friendly House Show.

By CHARLES MARTIN

ONE of the most startling upsets registered in a Mansfield amateur fight in several years was scored last night in the semi-final bout on the annual winter A. A. U. boxing show at the Friendly House before a capacity crowd of 300. Another 200 were turned away because of lack of room.

The triumph was tallied by rugged Eddie Tally of Crestline, a promising flyweight, who won a well-earned decision over Paul Carbetta, north central Ohio 112-pound division champion, in a gruelling tussle that had the enthusiastic fans yelping excitedly for a knockout.

Tally, who entered the fight as the underdog, surprised the fans as well as Carbetta with a sizzling right that floored the champion twice in the second and once in the third round for no counts.

Carbetta, wearing the Friendly House banner, and his colored opponent mixed it up at a fierce pace in the initial session, but the Crestline boy's corking right piled up the points that won the unanimous votes of the judges, Paul Eliot of Mansfield, Ike Jones of Marion and Tom Reynolds of Ashland. It was the best of a thrilling 12-bout card.

Decisions Bolden.

Melvin McKinley of Ashland, who recently won the bantamweight title in the novice division of the Golden Gloves tournament at Cleveland, received a rousing round of applause in taking a decision from James Bolden in a bristling affair.

Bolden, who recently joined the simon pure boxing ranks at the settlement, punched fast and furiously and threw caution to the winds in an effort to score a surprise win.

But he failed to guard against Mel's dynamite right and as a result found himself holding down the canvas several times during the second and third rounds. McKinley tossed so many punches a couple of times that Bolden didn't stop until he was knocked through the ropes.

Another three-round affair that had the fans yelling from the opening bell saw Ernie McKinley, Melvin's brother, outpoint Norbert Kolbe of Fremont. The two shifty featherweights finished the first round on even terms, but Ernie, who can throw plenty of leather with either fist, suddenly found the range. He banged Kolbe, 1938 Fremont Golden Gloves champion, all over the ring. Ernie dropped Kolbe to his knees three times in the second, but couldn't get over the knockout blow.

Frank Parker, 147, of Ashland, a southpaw with a lot of power in each hand, scored the quickest knockout by stopping James Slaughter, 147, of Bucyrus, in 26 seconds of the first round. Parker let loose with rights and lefts to the face at the bell and then felled his rival with a pile-driving left to the midriff.

Little Frankie Dolce, 109, of Crestline, a favorite with Mansfield fans, drew a big hand by decisioning Jimmy Forsythe, 109, of Marion. Frankie used a lightning-like left jab all the way with telling effect. Near the end of the opening round he had his opponent groggy.

Other knockouts on the interesting card were chalked up by Ray Howman, 133, Ashland, who stopped John Clayton, 135, of Bucyrus, in one minute and 37 seconds; Al Tucker, 118, Fremont, who scored a technical knockout over Tom Sahara, 120, Bucyrus, in 57 seconds; Jack Schwartz, 175, Friendly House, who halted Mac McGready, 170, of Wooster, in 43 seconds of the second round; Buz Hixson, 118, Wooster, who stopped Sidney Trent, 116, Fremont, in one minute and 50 seconds of the final round, and Dan Matthews, 133, Marion, who stopped Kid Carmel, 133, of the Friendly House, in one round. Carmel failed to come out for the second.

Sam Walker, a bantamweight from Crestline, thought he had dropped a close decision to Paul Mollenkopf of Bucyrus when Referee John Eichinger presented the trophy to the latter. But Walker was later called back into the ring and received a trophy. An error in tallying votes gave Mollenkopf the decision first.

Jesse Boyer Wins.

5 From Vicinity In Ohio State's 200-Voice Chorus

Five students from Mansfield and vicinity attending Ohio State university will appear with the university's 200-voice chorus when it gives its annual concert at 3 p. m. Sunday in the men's gymnasium.

The chorus will include Jean Seybold of Mansfield, Margaret Jackson of Bellville, Lowell Douce of Martel, Lee Pickens of Mt. Gilead, and Almeda Stahl of New London.

Five other students from the district have been named to the superior list of the college of Arts and Sciences for having classroom averages of 3.5 or better for the quarter. They are Betty Wolff of Mansfield, Richard Curl of Edison, William Shelton of Galion, Walter Horn of Lakeville, and Stanton Darling of Loudonville.

Others figuring in campus news are Wendell Bell of Mansfield and Herbert Porter of Marengo who are members of the men's glee club; Robert Hammett of Mansfield, member of the university grange; and Jennie Heston of Mansfield, recently initiated into Scholaris, women's freshman recognition society.

SUITS SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Agreement Reached In 2 Damage Actions Resulting From Crash.

Two damage suits for a total of $2,300, involving an accident on route 42 south of Mansfield in January, 1937, had been settled out of court today and dismissed.

In one of the actions, Oscar C. Abdon, Columbus, driver of a truck operated by the I. T. Trucking company, sought $1,500 for injuries he received when a car driven by Robert O. Berger of Kent, O., collided with the truck.

The trucking firm asked $800 for damages to the truck in the other suit. Both actions named Berger as defendant. Court costs were assessed against Berger, but the amount of settlement was not revealed in either case.

BLOOD TO BE STORED

LONDON—(U.P.)—An appeal for 2,000 volunteers to give blood to be stored for transfusion in the event of war is being made by the Leeds Blood Transfusion society. City hospitals are to provide facilities for storing the blood.

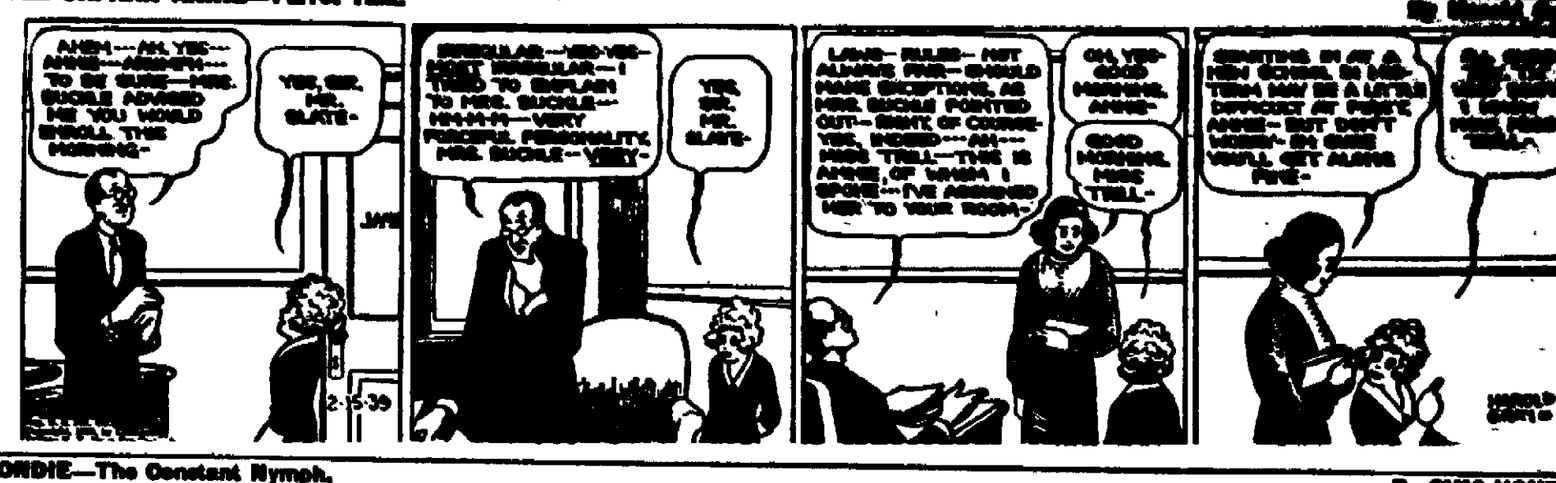
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Petty Tyke

By Harold Gray



AHEM---AH, YES---ANNIE---AHEMPH---TO BE SURE---MRS. BUCKLE ADVISED ME YOU WOULD ENROLL THE MORNING-
YES, SIR, MR. SLATE-
REGULAR---YES-YES-QUITE REGULAR---I TRIED TO EXPLAIN TO MRS. BUCKLE--- HM-M-M---VERY FORCEFUL PERSONALITY, MRS. BUCKLE---VERY-
YES, SIR, MR. SLATE-
LAWS---RULES---NOT ALWAYS RIGHT---SHOULD HAVE EXCEPTIONS, AS MRS. BUCKLE POINTED OUT---RIGHT, OF COURSE---YES, INDEED---AH---MISS TRILL---THIS IS ANNIE, OF WHOM I SPOKE---I'VE ARRANGED HER TO YOUR ROOM-
OH, YES---GOOD MORNING, ANNIE-
GOOD MORNING, MISS TRILL-
SOMETHING IN AN A HIGH SCHOOL SO MUCH TRUE MAY BE A LITTLE DIFFICULT AT FIRST, ANNIE--BUT DON'T WORRY--SO SOON YOU'LL GET ALONG FINE-

BLONDIE—The Constant Nymph.

By Chic Young

OH HOW CAN I EVER TELL THEM I'VE BEEN UNSUCCESSFUL?
I'VE BEEN EVERYPLACE AND DONE EVERY THING, BUT I COULDN'T FIND DAISY
LET'S NOT GIVE UP HOPE DEAR
I'VE GOT EVERYONE IN TOWN LOOKING FOR HER
THERE'S A MAN WITH A DOG IN THE FRONT ROOM TO SEE YOU
I'M CURIOUS TO KNOW HOW YOU LOST YOUR DOG---WE'VE BEEN TRYING FOR ELEVEN YEARS TO LOSE LULU!

PAM—Paige vs. Gordon!

By A. W. Brewerton

SO GORDON IS THE MAN!—LUCKY CHAP!—I LIKED HIM!—HE'S A SPLENDID FELLOW—AND HE DID ME A SWELL TURN—AS WELL AS HIS COUNTRY!
HE IMPRESSED ME AS A REAL MAN, PAM—BUT, THIS IS A PRACTICAL WORLD, AND—AS ONE WHO CARES FOR YOU VERY, VERY DEARLY, I'M WONDERING—PAM—CAN HE KEEP YOU HAPPY—HAPPY AS YOU SHOULD BE—AND—HIS IS A VERY PRECARIOUS, DANGEROUS CALLING, TOO!
TONIGHT PAM AGAIN IS GOING OUT WITH KEITH PAIGE!
THERE IS MUCH OF THE BULLDOG IN PAIGE'S NATURE—PERHAPS HE HASN'T YET GIVEN UP THE FIGHT!
AND DAVID WAS THINKING OF THEM AT THE VERY MINUTE!
KEITH PAIGE!—"A FRIEND—A GRAND FRIEND"!—THINK OF THAT!—A MAN OF HIS WEALTH AND STANDING CAN ONLY BE INTERESTED IN HER FOR ONE REASON—
---HE RECOGNIZES—APPRECIATES—PAM'S WONDERFUL QUALITIES—WANTS TO MARRY HER!—WHAT A TEMPTATION THAT MUST BE TO HER!—I WONDER IF I WERE A GIRL, I COULD RESIST IT!?
WHAT WILL PAIGE DO, NOW?

THE REBS—It's a Bargain.

By Del Ho

THAT CROOK LAWYER WON'T GIVE ME A DIME IF HE GETS DOUGH OUTTA FLINT SO I'LL GO TO FLINT AND MAKE THE PRICE SO CHEAP HE'LL THANK ME FOR THE BARGAIN
YOU HERE YET? I TOLD YOU TO GET OUT OF TOWN
NOW DON'T START TO YELL—I WAS OUT OF TOWN BUT I'VE GOT A PROPOSITION FOR YOU NOW—I'D TAKE IT MYSELF IF I HAD THE MONEY
YOU KNOW THAT FIRST PRICE I MADE YOU WASN'T MY IDEA—I THOUGHT AT THE TIME IT WAS STEEP
THE SECOND PRICE WAS MY IDEA AND WAS STEEP TOO, BUT YOU GOTTA ADMIT YOU GOTTA START SOME PLACE—YOU CAN ALWAYS COME DOWN—WHY DON'T YOU MAKE AN OFFER AND LET ME ACT LIKE I WAS MAD?
WELL, HERE'S A COUPLE OF BUCKS—GET CLEANED UP AND COME SEE ME TOMORROW

BRICK BRADFORD—And the Metal Monster.

By William Ritt and Clarence Gr

GOODBYE, SAMSA, AND GOOD LUCK!
GOODBYE, BEST OF FRIENDS!
SO LONG, KIDS! SEE YOU IN THE FUNNY PAPERS!
GOODBYE, BUCKO!
BRICK AND BUCKO DEPART FROM THE FORTRESS OF FRIENDSHIP
AFTER A LONG, WEARY PUNCH TOWARD THE COAST, BRICK FINDS BUCKO'S CRAWLIN FAR FROM ITS OBJECTIVE!
HEY, BRICK! LOOK WHAT'S COMIN!
I THINK WE'RE IN FOR SOME TROUBLE!

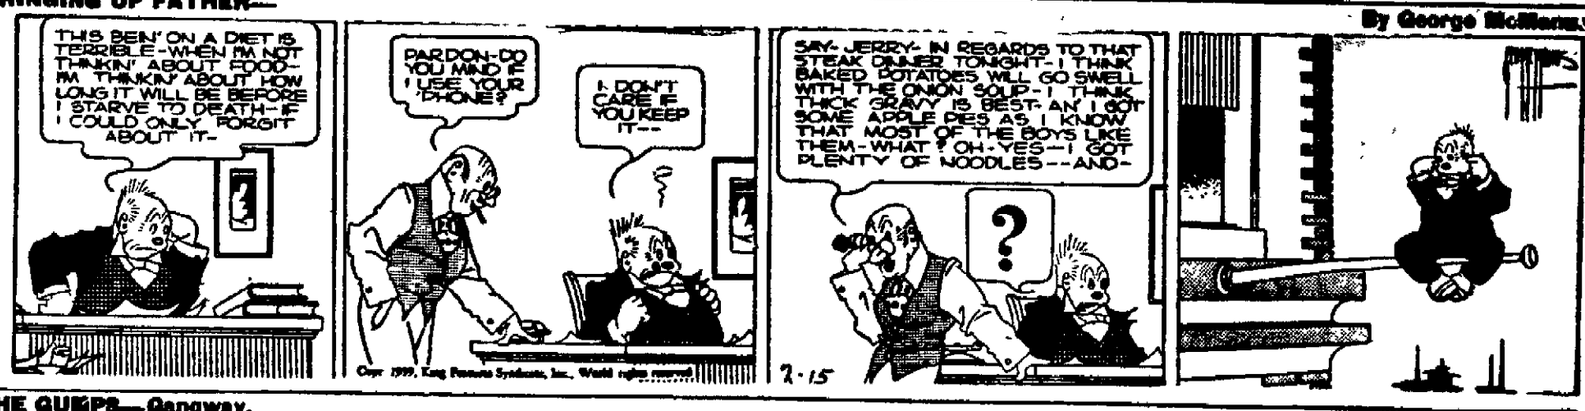
MICKEY MOUSE—Watch the Birdie!

By Walt

YASSUH, BOSS! AH BEEN WORKIN' ON A PLAN TO TAKE KYAR O' DEM GOATS!
WELL, REMEMBER NOW—IT'S YOUR JOB TO SEE THAT THEY DON'T STRAY OFF 'TIL WE GET THE FENCE FINISHED!
WHAT A GUY! "WORKIN' ON A PLAN"—AS IF THERE WAS MORE THAN ONE WAY TO WATCH GOATS!
YO' SEE, BOSS—AH BEEN SORTA TRAININ' A HELPER TO—UH, KINDER EASE O' STRAIN O' DIS JOB!
A HELPER? WHY, YOU CAN'T—THERE'S NOBODY TO—!
PHWEET! PHWEET! DAT'S MAH ASSISTANT, BOSS!
WELL, I'M—!!?

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By George McManus



THIS BEN' ON A DIET IS TERRIBLE—WHEN I'M NOT THINKIN' ABOUT FOOD—I'M THINKIN' ABOUT HOW LONG IT WILL BE BEFORE I STARVE TO DEATH—IF I COULD ONLY FORGIT ABOUT IT—
PARDON—DO YOU MIND IF I USE YOUR 'PHONE?
I DON'T CARE IF YOU KEEP IT—
SAY—JERRY—IN REGARDS TO THAT STEAK DINNER TONIGHT—I THINK BAKED POTATOES WILL GO SWELL WITH THE ONION SOUP—I THINK THICK GRAVY IS BEST—AN' I GOT SOME APPLE PIES AS I KNOW THAT MOST OF THE BOYS LIKE THEM—WHAT? OH—YES—I GOT PLENTY OF NOODLES—AND—

NOTICE!

Because, through no fault of its own, The News-Journal has been printing the comic strip "Tailspin Tommy" ahead of the regular release dates, appearance of the feature has been temporarily suspended.

However, the comic strip has not been discontinued.

It will reappear with no interruption in the continuity of the story on Saturday, Feb. 25, in the week-end green tabloid, in which it will appear thereafter.

The new and popular strip, "Blondie," now appears on this page daily.

AVIATIONS SET PACE IN LIGHT STOCK BUYING

Analysts See Improvement in Spring Operations in Auto, Building Industries.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Aviation shares were wafted upward on light buying currents in the stock market today.

Pointing higher were Douglas, North American, Glenn Martin, Curtis Wright "A," United Aircraft, Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Union Carbide, American Smelting and Sears Roebuck.

Chrysler sagged as many Wall Streeters expressed disappointment with the $1 dividend declared on the common in face of a sharp recovery in earning power in the final quarter of 1938. Bonds and commodities dragged in narrow markets.

Brokers who look to London for market cues noted speculation there still seemed to be waiting for the business and political skies to clear.

At home, the "Iron Age" pointed to another rise in the steel operating rate this week and strengthening scrap prices at Pittsburgh and Chicago as evidence of "gradual improvement" in the industry.

Analysts still held out hope for acceleration of improvement as the approach of spring expands operations in motor and general construction industries.

News Happenings From Communities In Richland County, Vicinity

ASHLAND BOARD ORDERS FABER TO GIVE BOND

Commissioners Set $50,000 as Surety for Treasurer; Maps Appeal in Ruling.

ASHLAND — County commissioners here have ordered H. O. Faber to furnish bond of $50,000 on or before Feb. 23 in order to make up for the bond of $40,000 which was held by two surety companies relieved by C. C. Chapman, former common pleas judge here when he decided in favor of the appeal of the bonders.

It was expected here that the actual bond will not be posted for Faber, for in having appealed he will receive a stay of execution which will act as a check on the order of the commissioners.

Although he has not yet perfected his appeal, he has 20 days in which to make it, and the order of the commissioners would not be in effect until the expiration of the appeal date.

GETS SECRETARY POST

ASHLAND— James Atterholt of Ashland was named to the post of secretary of the Ashland county fairboard at a meeting held here in the office of the county agent.

Atterholt's choice came after the members of the board decided to eliminate as candidates Mrs. Guy Priest and P. E. Heestand.

The elimination of Mrs. Priest and Heestand removed the deadlock which has prevented the board from being able to select a new secretary. Heestand was after the post to succeed himself.

Paul Ford, president of the fair board, presided at the meeting.

SET MARCH 1 TO NAME NEW POPE

Cardinals Map Definite Plan to Elect Pontiff at World Conclave at Vatican.

upon the choice of a new Pope considerably beyond their numerical strength.

Although the United States will have but three votes in the selection of a pontiff to succeed Pope Pius XI, it was learned a number of Italian Cardinals are "especially anxious" to gain a clear insight into the Americans' view of such matters as the political leanings and religious background of the next Pope.

Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, temporary head of the church, met with the "open seat" congregation of Cardinals to begin mapping final plans for the conclave. It was believed possible a definite date for the conclave may shortly be decided upon.

At least 60 of the 62 cardinals are expected to participate in the conclave, at which a two-thirds majority of votes cast is necessary to elect a new Pope.

Italian Press Asks 'Non-Political' Pope.

VATICAN CITY—(U.P.)—The newspaper Telegrafo of Leghorn, organ of Count Galeazzo Ciano, fascist foreign minister and son-in-law of Premier Benito Mussolini, called for an Italian, non-political pope today and recommended Cardinal Dalla Costa, archbishop of Florence, as successor to Pope Pius XI.

As alternate the newspaper suggested Cardinal Massimi, president of the commission for oriental codification.

It was in an unsigned editorial that the newspaper, whose editor, Giovanni Ansaldo usually expresses the Italian foreign office viewpoint, called for an "evangelical" pope rather than a "diplomatic" one.

The newspaper called for an Italian who would "attend to the care of souls," and rejected Cardinal Pacelli, secretary of state of the Vatican, who it said was noted as a diplomat.

Marble cutters descended into the crypt in St. Peter's this morning to take measurements of the pope's triple coffin so they could make the marble sarcophagus which is to cover it later.

For the present, a wooden urn inscribed with "Pius VI" was on the top of the coffin.

The college of Cardinals, at its daily meeting, began preparations for the elective conclave which is to name a new pope.

GOERING GIVEN DRAFT POWERS

Decree Puts All Workers Subject to Call of Nation.

BERLIN —(AP)— Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering today empowered the federal labor office and its sub-departments throughout Germany to draft any worker who might be needed to perform tasks deemed urgent and of importance to the welfare of the state.

Under his decree, every inhabitant of Germany, foreigners excepted, may be drafted for whatever form of labor Goering, as dictator of the four-year plan for economic self-sufficiency, deems necessary.

Men or women holding jobs must be given leave of absence immediately by their employers when drafted.

Clevelanders Told Autos To Be Impounded For Unpaid Tickets.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — More than 3,000 Cleveland motorists may expect to have their automobiles impounded by police shortly, according to an order announced today by the Safety Director Eliot Ness.

The 3,000 are the drivers who have received tickets for parking violations since Jan. 1, but have failed to pay the one-dollar penalties.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you're nervous, hurried or chew gum, your stomach often leaves out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in ten minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

Five Talks on World Subjects.

OPPORTUNITY will again be given for residents of Mansfield and vicinity to attend, without charge, a series of lectures in what is known as an Institute of International Understanding.

Expense in connection with bringing this series to Mansfield is borne by the Rotary and University clubs of this city, as a part of their contribution to community betterment by providing means for broadening individual understanding of international relations.

Experience in connection with a similar series sponsored last year by the same clubs, was that Mansfield citizens showed a steadily increasing interest, with growing attendance throughout the series.

It would seem, then, that if the coming series—starting next Monday night in the Senior high school auditorium—can be regarded as a continuance of last year's course, attendance from the start should tax the capacity of the auditorium.

For the opening talk Dr. Karl W. Deutsch, of Prague, Czechoslovakia, is scheduled to tell about "The New Order In Central Europe," which, in view of recent developments, may be expected to prove intensely interesting to all thoughtful persons.

Because of America's responsibility of leadership in democratic thought it is important that the largest possible percentage of population in this country have enlightened understanding of conditions elsewhere in the world as well as in the United States.

It was said by Daniel C. Roper, former secretary of commerce, in addressing the Institute of International Understanding in Washington, D. C., "United action is needed throughout the Americas for the publication of verified facts about every country, stressing constructive events and objectives rather than specializing on prejudice, crimes and disrupting happenings. We all need to cultivate faith, confidence in, and respect for each other, dispelling suspicions based on inaccurate knowledge and misunderstanding."

Reserving the next five Monday evenings for attendance at sessions of the Institute of International Understanding will be well worth while for all persons who welcome new ideas.

Notable Record of Justice Brandeis.

RETIREMENT of Justice Louis D. Brandeis, after twenty-two years of splendid service on the United States supreme court bench, brings to mind the rapidity with which thought has changed since this appointment was made by President Wilson in 1916.

Regarded then as a "radical" thinker, the appointment of Justice Brandeis was bitterly fought in the senate and was confirmed only after four months of stormy debate.

It is worthy of note that many of those who in 1916 conscientiously opposed the appointment of Justice Brandeis shortly afterward came to recognize his fine qualifications and to realize his dependability as a sane guardian of the Constitution and a sound "liberal" who looked to future betterments of the nation rather than standing in the way of the progressive trends of recent decades.

It was said by President Wilson in nominating Justice Brandeis: "This friend of justice and of men will ornament the high court of which we are all so justly proud."

The accuracy of this prophesy will not now be denied by anyone acquainted with the record of Justice Brandeis, whose earlier dissenting opinions have since become accepted as true intent of the Constitution and stand as law under more recent interpretations by the highest court.

The record of Justice Brandeis has been one of outstanding service to the nation and has made a distinct contribution to human welfare. It may be hoped that his successor, whoever he may be, will prove as worthy and as capable.

More and Better Light.

THIS is the Age of Illumination, in the cities at least. The phenomenon is remarkable enough in homes, with rapid expansion of lighting as electric fixtures and bulbs are better and cheaper and the cost of current goes down. But the most notable and rapid change is in street lighting.

In city after city, and in one section after another, the main thoroughfares are being equipped with flood-lighting which makes them almost as bright by night as by day. This super-illumination is rapidly spreading also to important rural highways. Even in the open country the roads can be seen from a long distance outlined in light against the sky.

Trying to hold onto old-fashioned values, and cherishing the dark as well as the light, some may begin to wonder whether there will be any pleasant darkness left in another generation or two, at least in the cities.

That may come to be one of the things people go to the country for. Farmers will have plenty of light, too, but they will probably turn it off when they go to bed.

The Personal Touch.

WHETHER Premier Chamberlain is wise or unwise in his international policies, he is sound in his method, at least. Addressing a conference of Arabian representatives in London, regarding their quarrel with the Jews, he says:

"My policy is one of peace. You will be aware that my particular method of approach to peace is through understanding, and the first essential step to understanding is personal contact."

That goes not only for international relations, but for business and personal relations. When people get to know each other they usually like each other, and then it's easy to get along together.

Cheap talk is sometimes confused with free speech.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — In spite of President Roosevelt's threat of veto, there is a new rush of demands for special coins to help promote everything from peace to refurbishing St. Augustine, Fla.

It is a slick system of helping finance local fairs and monuments. The government mints the money and sells it at face value exclusively to the local committee, which in turn can market each coin at a premium of 100 to 400 per cent to souvenir hunters.

Senator Adams of Colorado, chairman of a senate coinage committee charges that the local committee, with plenty else to do, often enough is glad to sell the coinage rights to a dealer for a fat premium, cash in hand. Then, says Senator Adams, begins the real scalping.

The dealer goes after the coin collectors. Smarties call them numismatists. There are 50,000 in the country, and of these, says Adams, at least 10,000 will buy any American coin that comes out, since they wish to keep their collections complete. Often they are made to pay through the nose, sometimes two or three times, for occasionally the special coin is issued in installments a year apart so the collectors have to come to the speculator each time.

* * *

Nice for 'Money-Makers.'

THE government is not shedding any tears about the hard plight of numismatists but this business of issuing special coins is an open invitation to counterfeiters. Further, the treasury fears that a flock of odd looking coins floating about might damage public confidence in the currency. Already there are a dozen varieties of half-dollars in circulation.

The rush for anniversary celebrations in the past several years has been so great that President Roosevelt put his foot down and said "no more of it." But here they come again.

Senator Pepper of Florida asks 2,000,000 50-cent pieces to aid in the historical restoration of Saint Augustine, oldest U. S. white settlement. He would limit premiums to $2 a coin. Senator Nye of North Dakota proposes 100,000 halves picturing the "International Peace Garden" on the Dakota-Manitoba boundary to help celebrate 120 years of peace along the Canadian border.

Senator Capper of Kansas wants an unstated number to help Manhattan (in Kansas, not New York) erect a memorial to General Wood. Senator Schwartz of Wyoming asks 25,000 50-cent pieces to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the admission of Wyoming as the first state guaranteeing woman suffrage. Senator Thomas of Oklahoma wants 100,000 halves to help maintain the Will Rogers memorial at Claremore, Okla.

* * *

Still They Come.

REP. SHANLEY of Connecticut wants three sets of 50-cent coins to help commemorate the 300th anniversary of the founding of Milford, Branford and Guilford in his district.

Representative Andresen of Minnesota asks 75,000 halves to help Minneapolis and St. Paul commemorate the anniversary of the discovery of America by Leif Ericson.

The New York World Fair has a request pending for coins but Californians, knowing the president's opposition, haven't put in a bid for the San Francisco exhibition.

There are others, but we will close with the proposal from Senator Davis of Pennsylvania to mint a flock of pennies for general distribution to promote the idea of peace. The motif on one side of the coin would contain the words Peace, United States of America, E Pluribus Unum, One Cent.

A PRIVATE SHOWING

Amlie's Words Argue Democracy

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—From nothing that I can discover has Thomas R. Amlie, President Roosevelt's first choice for a seat on the interstate commerce commission, expressed himself as an enemy of democracy, the charge immediately brought against him by opponents of his senatorial confirmation as an ICC appointee.

Thomas Amlie.

He has said, indeed, that he thinks "the old (capitalism) is breaking down."

But that does not necessarily mean that he is GLAD to believe it to be breaking down. Maybe he means he's AFRAID that it's breaking down. Some of its best friends are AFRAID. Good gosh! What do such folk as Congressman "Ham" Fish, Representative Martin Dies and other ultra-conservatives indicate but that they're scared, too?

Can't Amlie agree with them without being suspected of red sympathies?

Back in 1929.

Shortly after the 1929 slump had started to sink in, the question began to be asked, "Doesn't this thing have a Fascist threat?"

At that stage of the game Hitler was not noticeable. Mussolini, however, already was registering. Apparently he was developing a certain sort of order out of chaos in Italy. On trolley cars and street corners one heard the query put, "Wouldn't a dictatorship be a good thing in this country likewise?".

It was noticeable enough to have stimulated me to ask a number of outstanding Americans how much they thought it amounted to. They replied that they did not consider it a foolish question.

Said Senator Henrik Shipstead, "If we want to transform America into a despotism, let us consult Benito Mussolini."

Said Senator Burton K. Wheeler, "We've got Fascists, if they can 'get away with it,' but I don't believe they can do it."

Said Senator Marvel M. Logan, "A dictatorship has to start with a POPULAR dictator, and the candidate we have got now is not popular. (President Hoover.) The time is ripe—but the individual is not available."

That was the general verdict.

Somewhat Apprehensive.

These chaps were (and are) democrats.

Still, they were (and are) apprehensive. That did not imply that they were (or are) anti-democratic. On the contrary, they're democratically on the defensive.

AS democrats, they are as democratic as ever Jefferson was.

But they are entitled to feel that democracy is in danger of being undermined.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark can say that he is a democrat and is not afraid for democracy's future. And Senator Logan can say that he is a democrat but IS afraid as to democracy's future. And Thomas R. Amlie can say that he is a democrat but is hopeless as to democracy's future.

It is a statesman's privilege to be hopeless, if he chooses.

Not So Radical.

It is not so very radical to assume that our big public utilities ought to be publicly owned—governmentally as to railroads; municipally as to street cars, gas and electricity.

Nobody ever thought that that sort of stuff was downright revolutionary.

I have heard that kind of dope since 1893 or earlier.

Timely Editorial

Nebraska Holds the Line.

Rejection by the Nebraska legislature of a bill proposing to tax all incomes of $500 a year or more is in line with the state's unique policy. For a number of years Nebraska has been notable as the one state with the combination of no state debt, no income tax, no sales tax and no luxury taxes.

It has achieved this record by strong resistance to pressure groups, by constitutional and legislative limitations on spending by local subdivisions of government, efficient administration, avoiding new forms of taxes which usually result in additional tax loads and certainly in heavy administrative costs, and finally by a pay-as-you-go plan for all state activities. Even Nebraska's magnificent 10-million dollar capitol building was erected without one cent of interest, debt or even rent for temporary state offices.

Tax and debt maps of the nation in the past have shown Nebraska as the one white spot. It is the state's evident determination to maintain that happy distinction.—Kansas City Times.

Health Advice

Drinking Glasses Spread Disease.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

It is within my own memory that it began to be preached that a public drinking glass could spread disease, and I remember the caustic diatribe on the subject preached by our family doctor. The idea, he said, that any flibberty-gibbet with a microscope could prove to him that such a thing as diphtheria was spread by a nice clean drinking glass standing on a nice clean marble stand! He had drunk out of such glasses thousands of times, and look at him—perfectly healthy.

Well, he went the way of the dodo and the plesiosaurus, and the doctrine of the spread of disease by infected glasses, plates, knives and forks and spoons has prevailed.

There has been, indeed, much scientific work done on the subject and much improvement in methods. With the development of the sanitary examination of foods, it is realized that all the elaborate procedure, the entire system, breaks down if these foods are placed and served in dishes, glasses and utensils that have not been properly cleansed and sanitized. Health departments have connected the transmission of outbreaks of disease occurring in their jurisdiction to infected dishes and glasses.

Methods of Cleaning.

Home methods of sterilizing dishes and glasses need not be as efficient as those required at soft drink and lunch counters or in restaurants. The heat of the cleansing water used, the use of lye, or chlorine, or among newer developments, the use of specially designed lamps, are all to be considered.

The hotter the water used, the better the results. The longer the utensils are in contact with hot water, the better.

For the housewife's information, she should know that sanitarians beleve that the temperature of wash water should not be less than 120° F. I doubt if many households or soft drink counters come up to this standard.

Thorough washings is the most important step in drinking glass sanitation. Unless the glass is thoroughly clean and free of grease-film, lipstick, milk fat, the action of heat or any other disinfecting preparation is rendered ineffective.

Yet, it is a familiar sight at soda water fountains and cocktail bars to see the attendants sloshing a glass around a few times in a basin of lukewarm dirty water, drying it with a towel of questionable cleanliness, and using that glass to serve the next customer.

The "rim count" is the standard method of testing the sanitation of the drinking glass. This means the count of bacteria made from swabbing the rims of drinking glasses.

Here is another hint for housewives and glass-washers generally—how to hold the glass after cleaning it. Glasses should be set rim down on a clean surfice in an inverted position. The glass should not be handled from the rim. The hand of the glass-washer or food-handler should not touch the rim of the glass at any time. Glasses that are set down inverted are more easily handled without touching the rim.

THE URGE TO ACHIEVE

No external factors such as education or counsel can be substituted for the urge to achieve. Some say—and with reason—that this urge to achieve is dying out. Perhaps it is dying out at the top, but it is coming in at the bottom. As a Frenchman once said: "The stairway of success is ever resounding with the clatter of wooden shoes ascending it and the soft patter of patent-leather shoes coming down."—Walter B. Pitkin in the Rotarian Magazine.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Citizen of the World."

When the Socialist leader, Eugene Debs, quit Atlanta penitentiary twenty-odd years ago, deprived of his American citizenship, he called himself a "citizen of the world," using the phrase in the sense of a man without a country.

It was, however, with an entirely different significance that the phrase was first penned, the idea being the tie of humanity the world over, the universal brotherhood of man.

The earliest recorded use of this sentiment is by Socrates, who, according to Plutarch, said he was not an Athenian or Greek, but a citizen of the world.

Diogenes, too, asked from what country he came, replied, "I am a citizen of the world."

Also credited with sharing and proclaiming this sentiment of these ancients is Thomas Paine.

Listen, World!

Is Your Child a Guinea-Pig?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

DO YOU respect your child's "mental privacy"? Or do you believe you have a right to probe and peer into his hidden motives . . . to analyze and discuss the whys and wherefores of his every thought and deed?

The Younger Generation—in the person of 20-year-old Spiro Agnew, of Baltimore—wants to know. And has considerable to say on the subject. Quite a letter! So much of a letter, in fact, that we're handing it on, as is:

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"Have the so-called 'psychologically educated' parents of today no respect for the mental privacy of their children? It seems to me that the parent who attempts to analyze a child by literally dragging his innermost thoughts into the open, not only fails to help the child but actually creates an insurmountable barrier between them.

"All of us have thoughts, hopes and fears too sacred and intimate to be revealed to anyone. We are naturally sensitive about such personal thoughts. Why do parents and teachers think they have a right to invade and violate our innermost secrets?

"Certainly if a boy or girl feels the necessity of discussing his problems, he will do so of his own free will, and in such cases parents and teachers should give sympathetic advice. Only when advice is sought is it of value. When it is forced upon us it goes unheeded, nine times out of ten.

"My advice to parents is: Treat your children like human beings, not guinea pigs. If you're really interested in what we think about, let us discuss these things with you voluntarily and in a friendly manner. But don't take that know-it-all attitude and consider us just subjects for laboratory experiments."

Spiro Agnew—29,
Baltimore, Md.

Never was there a more timely or, to my mind, a more justified blast. Many old Dodos will undoubtedly take it as a blast against psychiatry in general and domestic psychology in particular. And will renew their sneers at "all these new-fangled notions about mind readin'." But they'll find no ground for their attack in this youngster's thoughtful letter. Spiro doesn't condemn "mind readin'"—nor does any other intelligent person. He merely protests against unfair use of said "mind readin'" and all tyrannical invasions of and disregard for human rights.

Time was when we all believed in the SPONTANEOUS WISDOM OF PARENTS. Mary and John might be the dumbest clucks on the clock before Junior's advent . . . but with his first waking chirp they become endowed with a complete knowledge of everything pertaining to him, and his life. And heaven help anyone who challenges that theory!

We no longer believe as implicitly in Pop's and Mom's omniscience but we're still in the dark ages as regards child training. No subject on earth is as important as Child Psychology . . . and there are few subjects on which we know less or act worse. IF THE AVERAGE PLUMBER KNEW AS LITTLE OF HIS CRAFT AS THE AVERAGE PARENT KNOWS OF HIS (OR HERS) HE'D BE KICKED OUT OF EVERY UNION FORTH-WITH.

Dad and Mom SHOULD know how Junior's wheels go round . . . and should not be permitted to become parents until they DO know. But it's one thing to KNOW the workings of a mind and quite another to ruthlessly invade its privacy.

A PERSONAL MIND HAS AS MUCH RIGHT TO PRIVACY AS A PRIVATE ROOM.

The fact that a person is a mother or father of a child in no way gives that person the right to trample on a child's secret thoughts or dreams. A child is an individual before it is a son or daughter . . . and its right as an individual should be as carefully respected as any stranger's.

YOU'VE A RIGHT TO STUDY YOUR CHILD . . . AND ANALYZE YOUR CHILD . . . AND INFLUENCE YOUR CHILD, IF YOU HAVE THE WIT AND WISDOM. BUT YOU'VE NO RIGHT UNDER HEAVEN TO INVADE YOUR CHILD'S MIND OR EXPOSE HIS THOUGHTS, AND YOU DESERVE HIS CONTEMPT AND DISLIKE IF YOU DO SO.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Since my colleague, Dale Harrison, is safely out of town on vacation at the moment and is therefore unable to intimidate me, I should like to call attention to certain of his remarks in a recent polemic on the evils of tipping:

Says Mr. Harrison: "We who for one reason or another flit from one nightclub to another are constantly menaced by the shadow of bankruptcy because of the hat check situation. To rescue a $5 hat from various checkrooms during the course of a year costs some of us about $50, which is outrageous."

There seems to me no justifiable complaint on this score, since any man who wears a $5 hat—like myself for instance—has no business frequenting the night clubs in New York, which are invariably expensive and overrated.

And to spend $50 a year at hat check counters a man would be compelled to attend four nightclubs a week 50 weeks in the year, and any man spending that much time in nightclubs is either misguided or lacking in imagination.

* * *

THERE are plenty of people who do "flit" from club to club, but they are escapists in one form or another. They are bored with themselves and with their surroundings. The thought of spending a quiet evening with a book would drive them to distraction. Besides, some of them have read a book.

Show me a man who chooses to go to four nightclubs a week, purely for entertainment, and I will show you a nervous wreck. What he seeks, and what his nerves demand, is the constant stimulus of blaring bands, of bright lights, and people. Above all he must be surrounded by people, because he lacks either the inclination or the imagination to entertain himself.

Nightclubs fall into one of two brackets in New York. Either they are top-flight or they are not. The people who patronize the lesser clubs are not inveterate, that is, the same faces do not appear at these clubs night after night.

At the more expensive clubs they do. You will find at these places a great many very genuine people. But with them you will find the old stand-bys, the boys who spend the money night after night, and tired actresses who laugh just a little too loudly, the jaded nerves seeking a moment of "relaxation."

* * *

YOU will also find there any number of the people who have come to be classified as members of Cafe Society. Believe me, it is no especial honor to be catalogued as such. Rudeness in public places, such as in restaurants and theaters, seems to be a certificate of admittance to this rather unselect group—that and a flair for pleasant notoriety.

Anyone acquainted at all with nightclubs is aware of these facts and therefore has no kick coming. The entertainment, when there is entertainment (some of the most expensive places do not even have music), consists of no more than a very loud band and a girl crooner, usually a debutante.

I think everyone should visit these clubs and acquaint themselves with them and have a good time, because they are a part of New York life, and as such, are interesting experiments. But as a matter of daily routine—you wouldn't like to sit through the same movie 200 times, would you? Or would you?

A Farmer's Diary

The Party Line.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

WE HAVE no telephone. The poles march by, with their strands of wires, along the gravel road to the east of us. On snowy days, when the wires are weighted down, we admire the skeins of white rope that hang there. On other days, when blackbirds alight upon the lines, the effect is that of a staff of written music, with shifting, fluttering notes.

Since we have no connection with those friendly wires, we miss a lot. Our neighbors keep abreast with what goes on. If a baby is born, within a radius of miles, if a fire breaks out—or even if somebody oversleeps, the news leaks out.

The phone is quick and personal. It was just made for folks like farmers are, who have so little time for going places. It has its own place—a prized and merited place—in country living. It brings the city to the farmer's door, and almost every need he has can be supplied by phone.

It is no rare sight to see a furniture van, a gasoline truck, or a bakery wagon parked outside a home miles "out in the sticks," while a rural customer gets the same service as his city neighbor.

For aged folks, or shut-ins, the telephone is indispensable. Time that would otherwise drag, is happily spent in talking or "listening in."

The only drawback to a rural phone that I have ever heard voiced was one day when a city man remembered that he'd forgotten something, and stopped at a farmhouse to phone back to town, in a big hurry. After getting the busy signal four times, he left in a huff, muttering something that had better not be printed anyway.

"An' the trouble wasn't with the telephone—nor with the party line," my country neighbor declared, and grinned.

FLU CASES RISE BUT U. S. HAS NO EPIDEMIC

Health Officials Say Number Little Above Average; Give Few Simple Rules.

Between now and the end of March some 20,000 persons may catch the flu—but you stand a good chance of not being one of them if you'll observe a few simple rules.

The Public Health Service in Washington pointed out today there is no epidemic of influenza raging over the country — but warned that some 20,000 persons may "catch it" before the end of March.

In official Washington head colds and grippe were prevalent in the same degree in which they have hit Richland county and caused the closing of the Shiloh and Plymouth schools.

Dr. Robert Oleson, assistant surgeon general, reported that last week's total of 4,310 cases of the grippe was higher than the average for the past five years, but not badly out of proportion for this time of the year.

Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, said the cold that "hangs on" can easily be avoided if persons will follow a few simple rules.

Points To Danger.

"There are two special dangers that accompany a cold," Dr. Rehder said.

"First, the early signs are often the same as the early signs of more contagious diseases, such as influenza, measles, scarlet fever, and whooping cough. As colds are too often made light of, a more serious illness which at first seems to be 'just a cold,' may be neglected at the very time when it is most contagious and when skilled medical and nursing care will do the most good.

"Second, long continued colds may pave the way for an attack of pneumonia, tuberculosis, or a chronic infection of the nose, throat or ears," the commissioner asserted. "It is important that a cold be cleared up as soon as possible."

"To keep from catching cold by direct contact, stay as far away as possible from people who cough and sneeze carelessly or who seem to have a cold. At the first sign of a cold start treatment immediately."

Dr. Rehder then listed the following steps to fight colds:

Rest in bed if possible. Drink plenty of water, fruit juices, and other liquids, and eat lightly of nourishing foods, including those which are rich in vitamins A and C, such as milk and milk products.

Get eight hours sleep each night and take some form of outdoors exercise daily. Dress according to the weather and wear enough clothing to be warm on cold days.

Breath through your nose and not through the mouth and live and work in well ventilated rooms.

MOOSE TO DINE

Supper and Dance to Be Held for Members, Families Tomorrow.

A supper and dance are on the program for the "family night" party to be staged by the Moose lodge at its home on North Walnut street Thursday night, Arthur Laird, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced today. The supper for members and their families will be held at 6:30 p. m.

The dance will be held in the auditorium with a floor show to be presented in connection with the event.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Many a good old fellow for a woman during her changes (usually from 38 to 52), who loves she'll have her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells.

Just get more fresh air, if you can, sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give many normally to enjoy life and avoid annoying symptoms and those disturbing things we call "hot flashes" and "weak, nervous feelings." Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.

Film Actress to Wed Nobleman

Once reported romantically interested in Howard Hughes, the millionaire aviator-sportsman, Frances Drake, screen player, has taken out a marriage license at Tucson, Ariz., to marry Cecil John Arthur Howard, 30, son of the Countess of Suffolk.

It is said to have saved the life of the late Kemal Ataturk on the Dardanelles front by stopping a bullet while in his breast pocket.

Kemal later presented the watch to a German general and it is believed that on the latter's death his widow sold it to an American.

CITY ACTS TO BUY 2 NEW CARS

Board Asks Bids on Cruiser for Police and Truck for Street Department.

The city took steps today to purchase two new motor vehicles as the board of control called for bids on the purchase of a new police cruiser and a truck for the street department.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist announced that bids will be accepted at the office of the board until noon March 2.

Specifications on the police cruiser call for the delivery of a four-door sedan, not to cost over $900 and to be equipped with a bullet-proof windshield, and gunport, bullet-proof radiator screen, five 6-ply heavy duty tires, spotlight, heater and two defrosters.

It also calls for the transfer of a radio receiver and transmitter now in use in another cruiser for which the bidder also must submit his proposal. The old cruiser, a 1937 model, must be sold for not less than $225, according to an ordinance passed by council.

Specifications on the truck call for delivery of a new heavy duty 1½ ton capacity dump truck to cost not more than $1,500. The machine is to be equipped with dual rear tires, a hydraulic hoist and cab guard.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS HONORED WITH DINNER

I. W. Clark Entertains With Formal Party for Women, Men Attending Westinghouse Kitchen Clinic In Mansfield.

THE ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel took on the appearance of an old-fashioned garden last night during the dinner dance which I. W. Clark gave for guests at the kitchen clinic of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company which was held here yesterday and today.

The ballroom was divided into two sections with a white picket fence which was covered with wild Southern smilax, and the arbor gate was entwined with smilax and roses. The greens were used around the walls and over the chandelieres, and in each window were miniature long-needle pine trees from the Alabama swamps.

The west end of the ballroom was reserved for the tables at which an 8 o'clock dinner was served, while the east end was used for the cocktail lounge.

Covers were laid at round tables for about 60 guests. Each table was centered with a large Colonial bouquet of old fashioned flowers — anemone, carnations, jonquils, ranunculi, Scatch heather and acacia. At each of the women's places were colonial bouquets of violets and Talisman roses, while there were gardenia boutonnieres for men. The tables were lighted by four candles in shades matching the flowers. A program of dinner music was given by a string ensemble directed by Eugene Weinberger.

After the dinner, there was a floor show with Westinghouse talent, and Bob Richard's orchestra. J. Gilbert Baird was master of ceremonies and introduced the novel feature of the evening.

At the end of the grand march, every woman was presented with a complete Valentine outfit of red and white crinoline hoop skirt, made over white muslin, with a matching shoulder cape, and a perky, heart-shaped hat. The men were given lace jabots and cuffs, and each couple received material for enhancing their appearance as "Valentine couples."

Before a background of a giant old fashioned valentine, each couple posed for pictures—poses which represented their ideas of the "tender sentiment" of a half century ago. Each of the pictures will be finished at the Westinghouse studio and mailed to the couples.

Richards' orchestra played for the dance which followed.

The men and women who attended the Kitchen clinic were given a tea yesterday afternoon at the Westinghouse Institute, with Mrs. Julia Kiene, head of the home economics department, as hostess. The Valentine motif was carried out at the tea also, with centerpieces of red carnations and red candles in graduated heights. Mrs. Frank Williams and Mrs. Irving Clark presided at the tea table.

The two-day clinic closes late this afternoon.

Clarence Ackerman, Rowland avenue, and Arthur C. Kell, Prospect street, are spending today and Thursday at a hardware convention in Columbus.

Plan Joint Mission Study Program Here

When members of the Mary Voegele Missionary society of St. Matthew's Lutheran church met last evening at the home of Miss Doris Bush, 39 Vennum avenue, they made plans for the joint missionary study class of all Mansfield Lutheran churches which will be held sometime in March. Mrs. Raymond Beal served as associate hostess for last night's meeting.

Mrs. Franklin Spence was in charge of the program and gave a paper entitled "For Higher Patriotism." Mrs. Spence also read the evening's devotions and a poem, "Life's Clock." The next meeting of the society will be held on March 14 at the home of Mrs. John Mabee, West Fourth street road, with Mrs. William Mabee assisting.

Mrs. Ness Hostess To Dorcas Members

Twelve members and one guest, Mrs C. L. Mitchell, were in attendance at a meeting of the Dorcas class of St. Matthew's Lutheran church last evening at the home of Mrs. J. W. Ness, 169 Bartley avenue. Mrs. Mabel Sommers conducted the business session, and Mrs. Glenn Taylor was in charge of the devotions.

The group played contests during the evening, and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Carl Willis and Mrs. Edward Case. Mrs. Ness served refreshments in keeping with the spirit of Valentine day. Mrs. Grace Myers will have the next class meeting at her home on West Fifth street next March 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Symour, 166 West Temple court, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Uhlich, Maple street, are spending today and Thursday attending a hardware convention in Columbus.

Music, Talk On Program of West Fifth P. T. A.

Following the routine business meeting of the West Fifth Street School P. T. A. G. L. Robinson, school principal, presented the program which was opened by Miss Lillian Chriss who sang the selection, "I Have Eyes." Richard Sparks, her accompanist, then played "Ponchinello" by Rachmaninoff.

Mrs. I. W. Bassinger, district representative of the state P. T. A. talked on Founders Day, and spoke briefly of the conference which will be held Feb. 23 at Ashland. Miss Helen E. Hartman, supervisor of music, sang the Negro spirituals, "Me and They" and "I Dunno." Miss Margaret Black was the accompanist.

Miss Elsie Smith, instructor in religious education, gave a talk on Africa, and exhibited a number of native articles. At the close of the session refreshments were served, and A. B. Hamman announced that the next meeting will be March 14 with the safety committee in charge of arrangements.

Handkerchief Shower Honors Club Hostess

A handkerchief shower was an event of last evening for Mrs. Charles Wolfe when she entertained members of the Tuesday Night club at her home on South Mulberry street. Two guests, Mrs. Mildred Davis and Miss Mildred Cru.., were in attendance at the meeting.

Bridge was the diversion of the evening, and prizes were won by Mrs. Russell Seymour, Mrs. Grace Tivener, and Mrs. Everett Croskey. Luncheon was served later at one long table, which was decorated with Valentine appointments.

Mrs. Alfred Kushin has invited the club members to her home on West Fourth street for the next regular meeting on Feb. 28.

CONGRATULATIONS are in order for Robert Chatlain who recently announced his engagement and approaching marriage. Bob (who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Chatlain) has been attending Denver university in Denver, Col., for the past four years . . . and it was there that he met his fiancee, Jean Marian James. The couple announced their engagement at the Athletic club in Denver and sent Bob's mother a corsage—which had been a part of the centerpiece at the festive table. Bob and Jean plan to be married sometime in June—shortly after Bob's graduation.

Although most Mansfield vacationers are well in the middle of their vacations by this time . . . a few persons have just set out on their winter sojourns. Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Gibson have gone down to Jacksonville, Fla., to spend the next three or four weeks. The Gibsons went by train, secured their car at Jacksonville, and now plan to tour the southern state. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kagey are going south too—but in a different direction. . . . They left the other day for Brownsville, Tex., where they will spend the next few weeks.

More News From Marygrove: The Dramatic society at Marygrove college (Detroit, Mich.) is planning to give a three-act comedy, "Green Stockings," this Friday and Saturday evenings. This play will be given on a joint program with the college glee club—of which Mansfield's Jane Kelley is a member. The glee club's contribution to the program will be entitled "Varied Moods" and will include such selections at "The Lark" by Goetchaninoff and "Song of Marie Antoinette" by Jacobson.

JUST received a letter from Winnie (Seneff) Graham. . . . She says that she and her husband, Wally, are having a fine time apartment and furniture hunting in Chicago. On their way to River Forest, Ill., (where they're living now) from Mansfield, the Grahams stopped over in Ft. Wayne, Ind., and had dinner with four of their former classmates at Hillsdale college in Hillsdale, Mich. . . . P. S. Winnie commented that it's most pleasant to sleep until 10 o'clock every morning instead of having to arise at 7 (like the rest of us) in order to be at the office by 8—ho hum, the luck of some people!

St. Valentine and Cupid went hand in hand to the A. A. U. W. supper party at the Mansfield-Leland hotel last evening. The guests found their places at small tables by means of a heart tree—the tree was trimmed with all kinds of hearts—which the guests had to use their imaginations to figure out. . . . For instance, the sad heart was a blue one . . . the heavy heart was made of metal . . . the light heart was identified by the feather sticking to it . . . and a heart-shaped gumdrop was the tender heart. There was a contest which required a great deal of imagination too. . . . The guests had to match a list of book titles with corresponding objects which were displayed on a table. . . . "The House the Colonel Lived In" was a walnut. . . . "The Light of Other Days" was a candle. . . . "Can't Be Beat" was a hard-boiled egg . . . and "A Drive Through the Wood" was a nail driven through a block of wood.

Pearl Danback was wearing the most unusual and attractive peasant blouse at the party last night. She purchased it in Budapest last summer—and instead of being the usual type of peasant blouse with colored embroidery on white batiste, Pearl's blouse was fashioned from pale green chiffon—and the multi-colored embroidery was worked into the material. . . . It was truly very colorful and equally as beautiful.

Chi Sigma Mothers Entertain Girls At Dinner-Bridge

Tiny vases of red and white sweet peas which centered the dinner tables at the Women's Club last night were presented to members of Chi Sigma sorority when their mothers entertained with a Valentine bridge-party. There were 22 members of the Mothers' club and 29 of the sorority girls present.

Mrs. Herbert Clingan played "Valse" by Levitsky, and Mrs. Rupert Cox sang "What Is a Song" by Pearl Curran and "Take Joy Home" by Karolyn Bassett.

Arrangements were made by Mrs. O. G. Place, assisted by Mrs. Cox, Mrs. W. W. Hammett, and Mrs. J. Merton Holcombe. Mrs. George Park, Cleveland, and Mrs. E. F. Blackstone, Zanesville, were among the guests.

Bridge prizes were presented to the Misses Jane Cunningham, Eileen Logan, Sarabell Kramer and Mary Elizabeth Miller. The next meeting of the sorority will be a business session at the hotel Tuesday. Mrs. Holcombe, Heineman boulevard, will entertain the Mothers' club March 7.

Colonial Tea Entertains Tourist Club Members

Mrs. A. C. Tuttle, Summit court, opened her home to members of the Tourist club yesterday when 20 attended the colonial tea and program. Mrs. J. R. Turner, guest speaker, appeared in costume to tell of the life of Washington, and to give an interpretation of his time.

The table was appropriately decorated with tapers and flowers in patriotic shades. Mrs. H. L. Ackerman, a guest, poured. The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. S. D. Hoover, and Mrs. C. W. Fritz, Mrs. Frank Hughes and Mrs. Elmer Post will give the program.

Complete Arrangements For Moose Dinner Party

Final arrangements for the dinner to be held Feb. 22 in commemoration of the affiliation of the Women of the Moose and the Loyal Order of Moose were made last night when Mrs. Margaret Ritchie conducted a special meeting of the membership committee at the Moose hall. Mrs. Bertha Coleman and Mrs. Irene Newton, charter members, and new members will be guests of honor at this affair.

After the program there will be a regular lodge session and party for members. Mrs. Coleman is in charge of the social hour. The dinner will be served at 6 p. m. in the Moose hall.

BUFFET-SUPPER HELD FOR UNIVERSITY CLUB

Program of Dances, Music Presented By Mrs. W. L. Miller, Committee at Semi-Formal Function of A. A. U. W.

THE spirit of St. Valentine prevailed in the main dining room of the Mansfield-Leland hotel yesterday evening when the members of A. A. U. W. met for a buffet-supper party at 9 o'clock. Mrs. W. L. Miller was chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair. The Misses Ruth Dunham, Wilma Snider, Beatrice McLees, Marianne Springer, Mrs. R. D. Lindsay and Mrs. Milo Hieber were the other members of Mrs. Miller's committee.

The guests found their tables by matching up Valentine hearts with the corresponding tables. The program was opened with a musical selection by a trio composed of Ann Jeanette Klinger, Joe and Frank Pival. Miss Snyder presented a group of eight junior high school students in two dances. The girls wore colonial costumes with powdered wigs and danced the Minuet and the Virginia Reel. Dorothy Mayberry, Marceil Pluck, Camilla Calene, Lenore Betz, Mary Betty Hoffman, Margaret Buhr, Ruth Blumenschein and Eleanor Wilging were the youthful dancers.

Miss Janice Holmes of Willard presented an acrobatic dance on the program. Miss Jane Miller furnished the piano accompaniment. Miss Kathleen McIntosh then sang the "Italian Street Song" and gave an Italian folk dance in costume. She was accompanied by Miss Louise Krause. Later in the program, Miss McIntosh sang the song, "Sweethears" from "Sweethearts."

Mrs. George Hypes and Mrs. George Taylor were recipients of the prizes for the contests. The program was concluded with the singing of "On the Road to Mandalay" by Lemoine Derr, instructor of voice at Mansfield Senior High school. Mr. Derr also led the guests in singing a number of sweetheart songs appropriate to the spirit of Valentine day. Miss Krause furnished the piano accompaniment.

A buffet supper was served at the close of the evening from one long table which was centered with a bouquet of red roses. The next regular meeting of the organization will be held on March 14 at the Women's Club with Mrs. Chester Cole in charge of the program.

Program Committee Named By Club Head

Miss Elsie Smith, Mrs. R. K. Esselburn and Miss Edith Martien were appointed to the program committee for next year last night when members of the Fortnight club were entertained at the Women's Club by Miss Florence Sloane. There were 10 present.

Mrs. Esselburn presented a program on glass and spoke of its origin and modern uses. Miss Emma Waring will entertain Feb. 28 at the Club.

Entertain Guest at Book Club Luncheon-Bridge

Mrs. Carl Hartenfels of Cleveland was a guest of the Tuesday Book club yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Donald Black entertained that group with a Valentine party at Raemelton house on the Marion avenue road. Mrs. Leo Wright, Mrs. Harold Bruce and Mrs. J. Rexford Small were associate hostesses for the dessert-luncheon which was served at 1 o'clock.

Bridge was in play during the afternoon, and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Wesley Carr, Mrs. Paul Stoodt and Mrs. Hartenfels. Mrs. W. Herbert Rusk will be hostess for the next meeting of the group at the Women's Club on Feb. 28, when "The Ramparts We Watch" by Major George Fielding Elliot, will be reviewed.

Towne House Scene of Three Star Club Party

The Towne House was the scene of a dessert-bridge party for members of the Three Star club yesterday evening. The Misses Elizabeth Snyder and Lillian Wilging were hostesses for the affair.

Miss Mary Lou Elsass, president of the club, conducted the business session, after which bridge was in play at five tables. The Misses Elsass and Florence Phillips of Willard were recipients of high score prizes for the evening. The time and place of the club's March meeting has not yet been announced, but the hostesses will be the Misses Elsass and Ruth Fiedler.
